Time is the beginning of patience;

patience is the seed of reward;
reward is the essence of life.

Technical and vocational training prepare Occupational Skills Center students for a prolific future.

Through the sadness of joy and the endurance of hope we come to know the fantasies and realities of life.

Time for study and performance provides the knowledge needed to complete our dreams for the future.

What we inherit appalls:
muck-filled, dying waters,
chemical clouds that sting
and choke,
a bullet-torn, honor-stripped Brotherhood.

And we must more than utter vain promises to those who shall inherit from us.

HONORS

Australian Meredith Taylor year's visitor

From the land of kangaroos and sporting a refreshing British accent was this year's foreign exchange student, Meredith Taylor. Born in Adelaide July 7, 1951, Meredith took time from studies at the University of Adelaide to visit Clackamas.

Her guardians for her stay were Dr. and Mrs. Ben W. Curtis, Cathy Curtis's parents.

Meredith honored the school by being selected on the Christmas Court, serving as a guide during Earth Day, working on the Cub Shield staff, and by attending many banquets held in honor of various students from abroad.

Queen Cindy
Miss Flame 1969

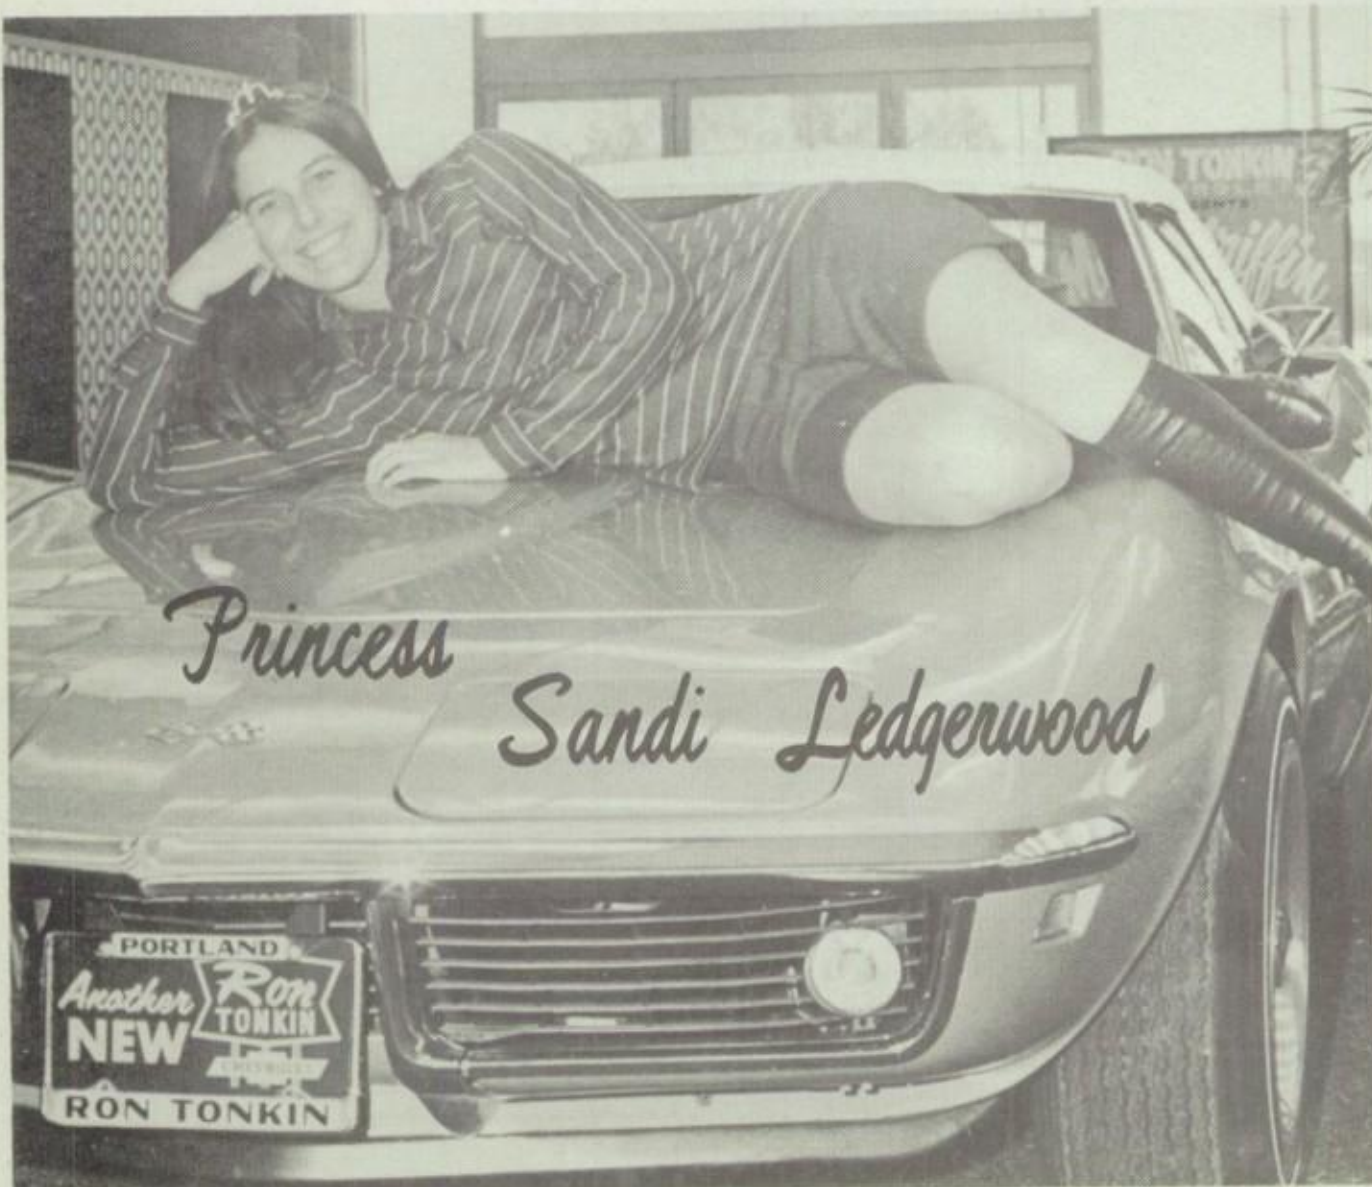

Miss Flame and her court were presented during half-time at the Putnam game, in honor of National Fire Prevention week. On the court were, from left, Queen Cindy Coursey, senior; Princess JoAnn Anderson, junior; Princess Laurie Raymond, sophomore; and Princess Patsy Pinkerton, freshman.

Basketball Homecoming 1970

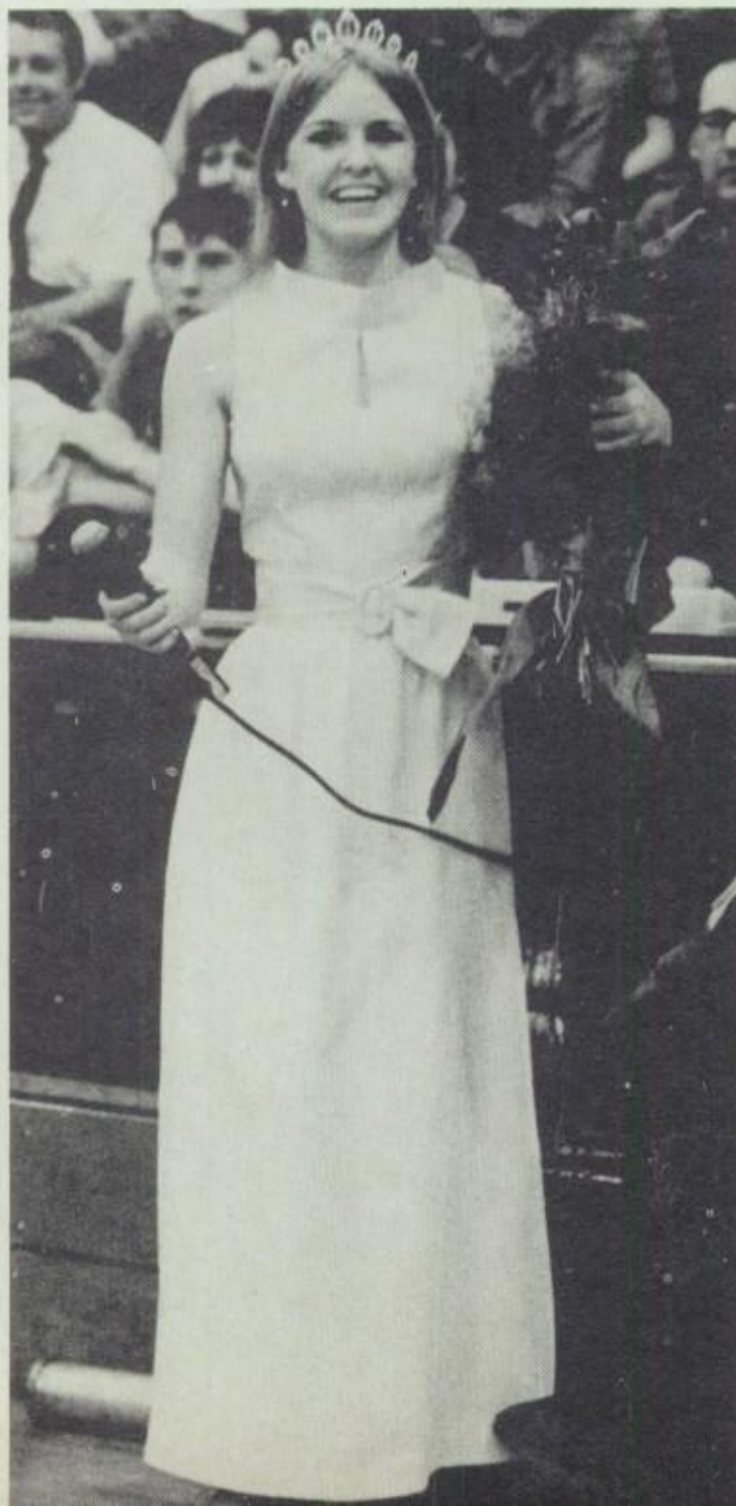

Queen Linda !

"May I present your 1970 Basketball Homecoming Queen, Miss Linda Barclay!" With those words, last year's Queen, Lynn Grenz, crowned Linda.

Queen Linda's first pleasant task was to announce the class of 1970 as Spirit Week winners. Though the team lost to Astoria, it defeated Putnam for district play-offs.

The world's a beautiful place, especially when you've just been crowned May Queen. That's the way Sherry Kiger sees things as she receives a royal embrace from Grandma and gets crowned by former May Queen Marlas Drapela.

Sweetheart Ball

Dale Peterson (Jackson High) and Randi McKnight were crowned King and Queen of Hearts at the 1970 Sweet Heart Ball. The semi-formal affair, put on by the a-capella choir, was decorated in traditional pinks and reds, depicting St. Valentines Day. The Clackamas High orchestra provided music and entertainment.

Miss Milwaukie

Lovely Miss Cecile Hansen was crowned Miss Milwaukie for 1970 at the annual Miss Milwaukie Pageant in early April.

For the second consecutive year, a Clackamas High senior has represented the city of Milwaukie in the Miss Oregon competition at Seaside.

Oregon's Junior Miss

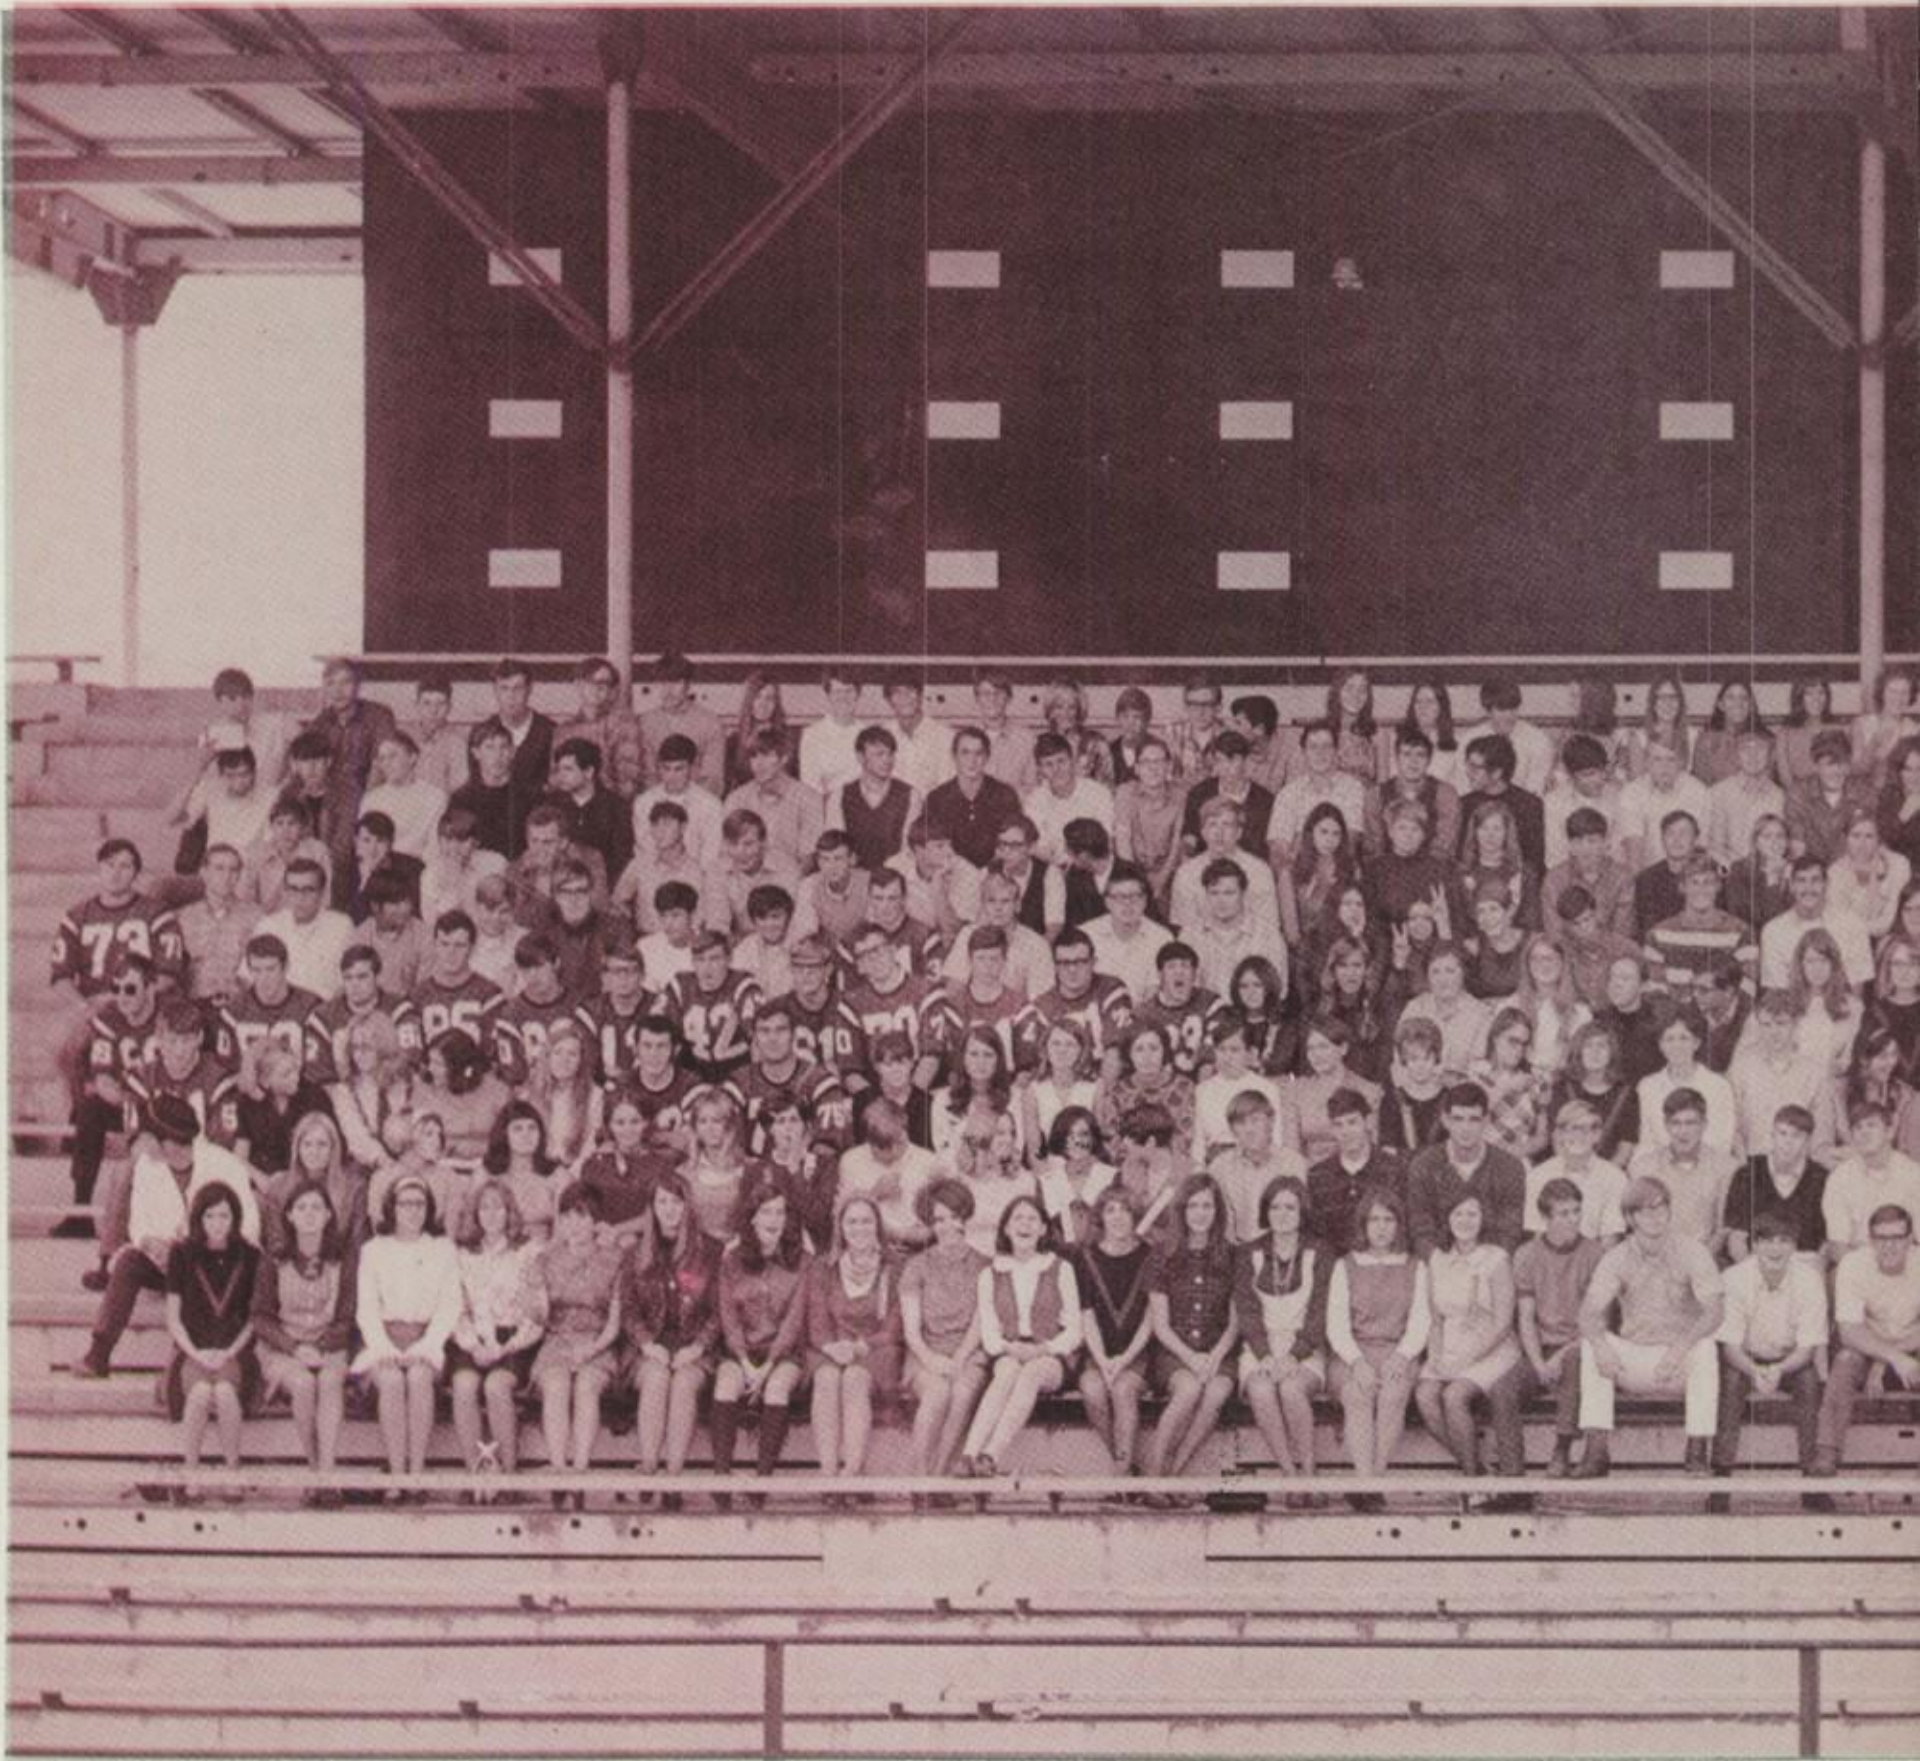

For the third consecutive year a Clackamas senior captured the Milwaukie Junior Miss title. Marcia Cantwell won this honor in the November contest at the Dogwood Lodge in Milwaukie.

For her talent presentation Marcia portrayed Eliza Doolittle in a song from "My Fair Lady."

After the Milwaukie pageant, Marcia moved on to win the title of Oregon's Junior Miss. During the week-long pageant she repeated much of the same routine in her talent and physical fitness presentations.

Marcia then went onto the national competition in Mobile, Alabama, for a two-week pageant to determine America's Junior Miss.

Perhaps the best way to describe the class of '70, would be to call them the class with all the spirit. They really proved this their senior year by winning "Spirit Week" both seasons. During their junior year they picked up the title as winners of the annual Big Brother's Can Food Drive, and also collected the most money in the March of Dimes. "Tahitian Twilight," the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom, was a total success due to the efforts of the class of '70. Members of the council spent many hours decorating the gym for the exotic dance.

The Class Council combined student efforts to form a class that performed not only to benefit themselves but the entire school as well.

Spirit of '70

In memorium of Melissa Lee Owens

Melissa Lee Owens, who would have graduated with the class of 1970, met a tragic death in an automobile accident at the end of her sophomore year.

Melissa attended Clackamas Grade School. As a sophomore, she served on junior varsity rally. She had been voted to be varsity alternate for her junior year.

ACTIVITIES

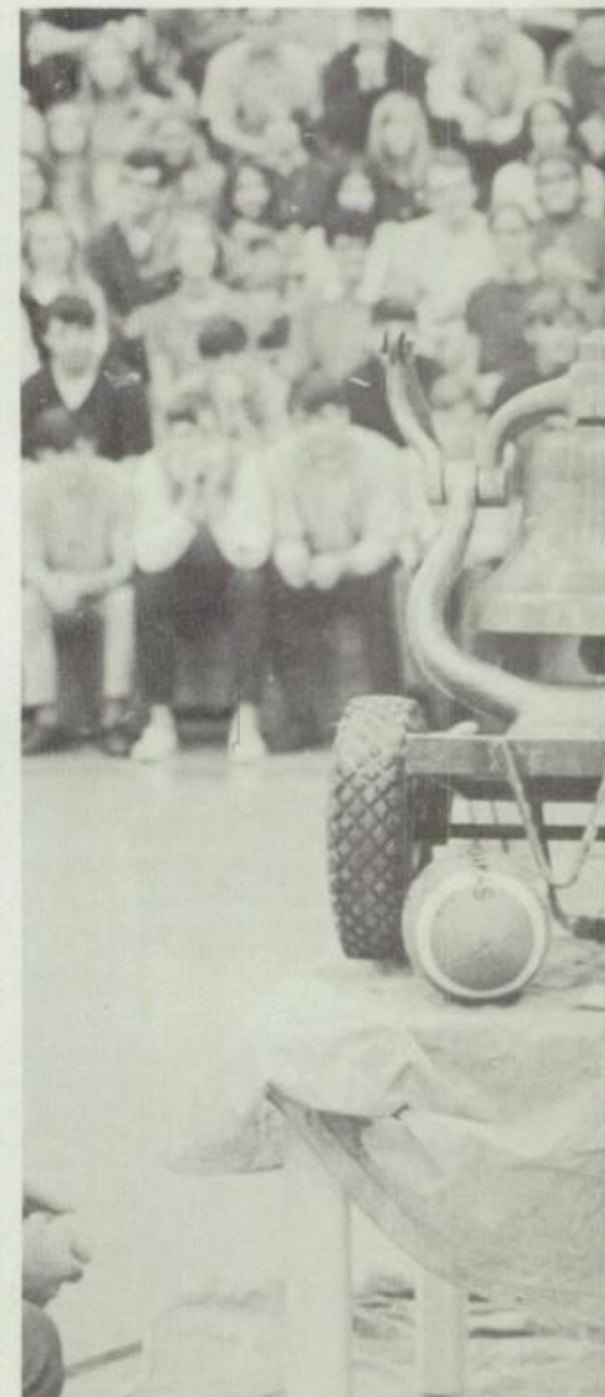

Group effort and

Unity, pride and spirit within a school doesn't just happen. It's something the students discover within themselves and then share with others. CHS is witnessing an all out effort on the part of class leaders, club officers, rally members, and many other students to get the entire student body involved in school activities.

Only a few examples of cooperation are shown here as Mr. Millen stresses spirit and involvement to an enthusiastic freshman class on registration day. By the time the Victory Bell is painted, pride towards the team's efforts are readily displayed by all.

Groups such as IRL are concerned about the individual relating to the world around him. One discussion featured by this group was on Gandhi, a man greatly admired the world over.

The necessary factor in achieving unity, pride and spirit is working together as these groups have tried to do. One student won't accomplish the job alone.

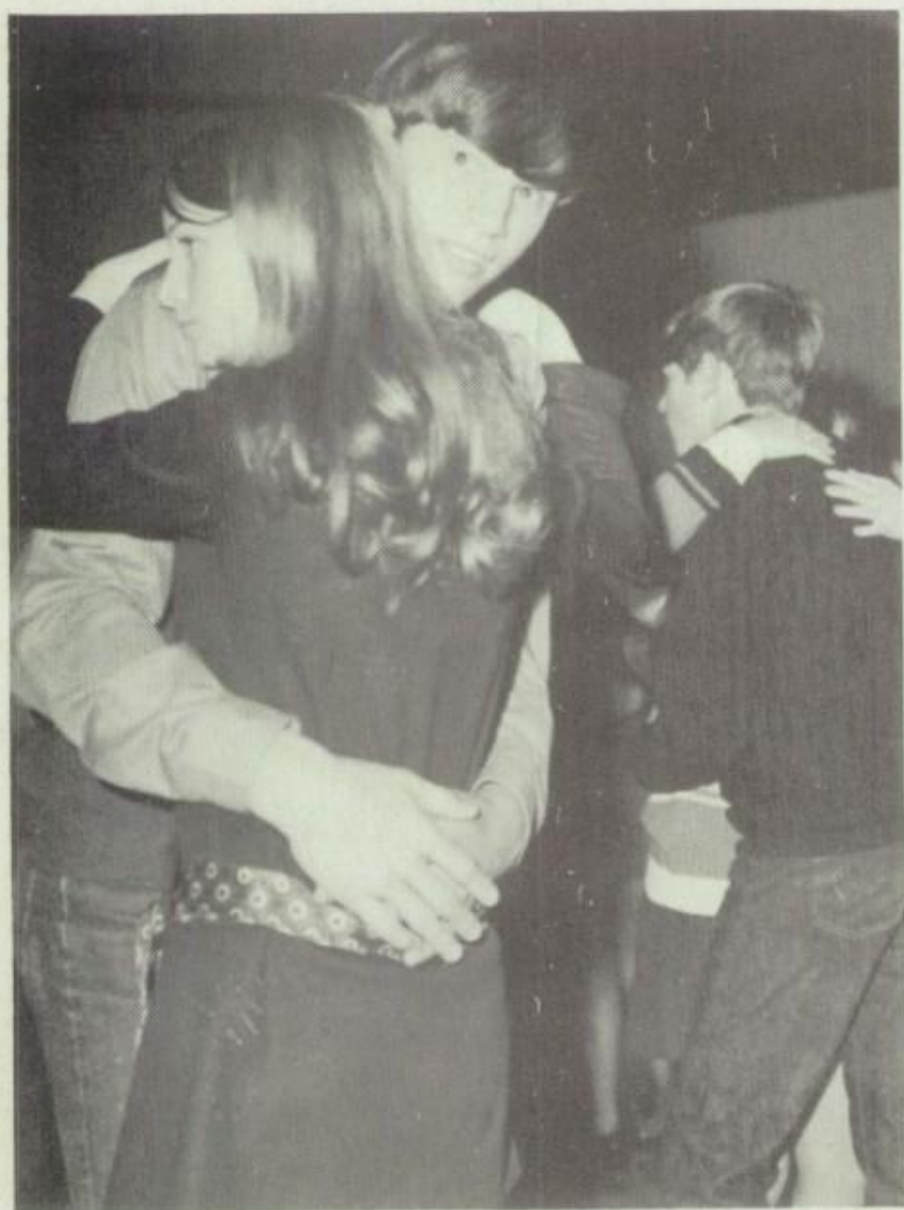

participation create greater unity among students

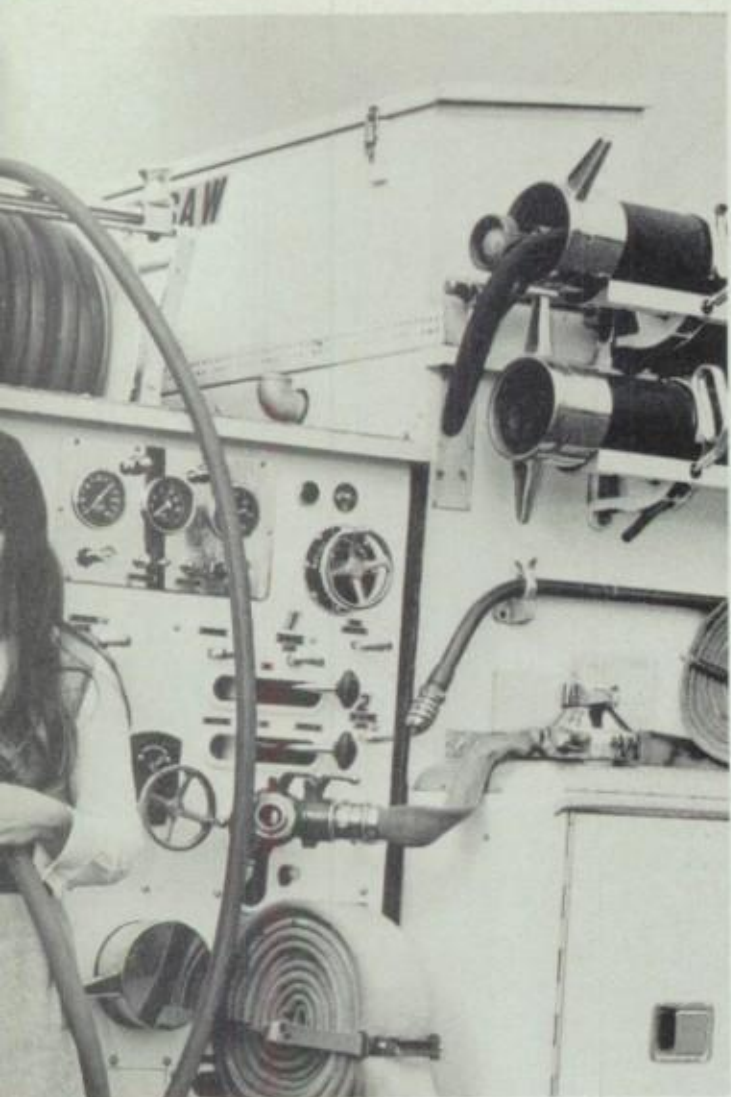

Cindy reigns as Milwaukie's Miss Flame

For the 4th consecutive year Miss Flame Court was chosen by Clackamas High School students to represent Milwaukie Fire Department in all fire prevention activities.

Queen Cindy Coursey and her court were presented during half-time activities of the Clackamas—Putnam game.

Bolstering spirit throughout the football and basketball seasons were the after-game dances held in the cafeteria following several Friday night games. Sponsoring these dances were the different classes and school organizations. Various groups providing sounds of today's music were the Children of Despair, U. S. Cadenza, The Outer Edge, and the God Fearing Runk.

Students

and foreigners enliven assembly entertainment

Assemblies at CHS have always provided unusual entertainment and featured educational benefits; this year was no exception. Outside performers usually present assemblies, but our own students are quite active in many of them. Entertainment ranges from musical presentations to pep assemblies to people relating unusual personal experiences.

Many students this year questioned the importance, value, and mandatory requirement of some assemblies. Pep assemblies emphasizing school spirit through screaming and clapping were criticized by students who felt that spirit can be expressed in other ways. Another assembly, presented by a Bolivian group, created quite a controversy. A personal testimony of Christian faith by one of the members raised questions as to whether the assembly was conducive to education and what the role of religion has in a state institution.

Homecoming abounds with winning spirit

Anticipation and spirit were predominant feelings during the week October 27 through October 31 as students awaited the crowning of the 1969 Football Homecoming Queen and participated in Spirit Week activities.

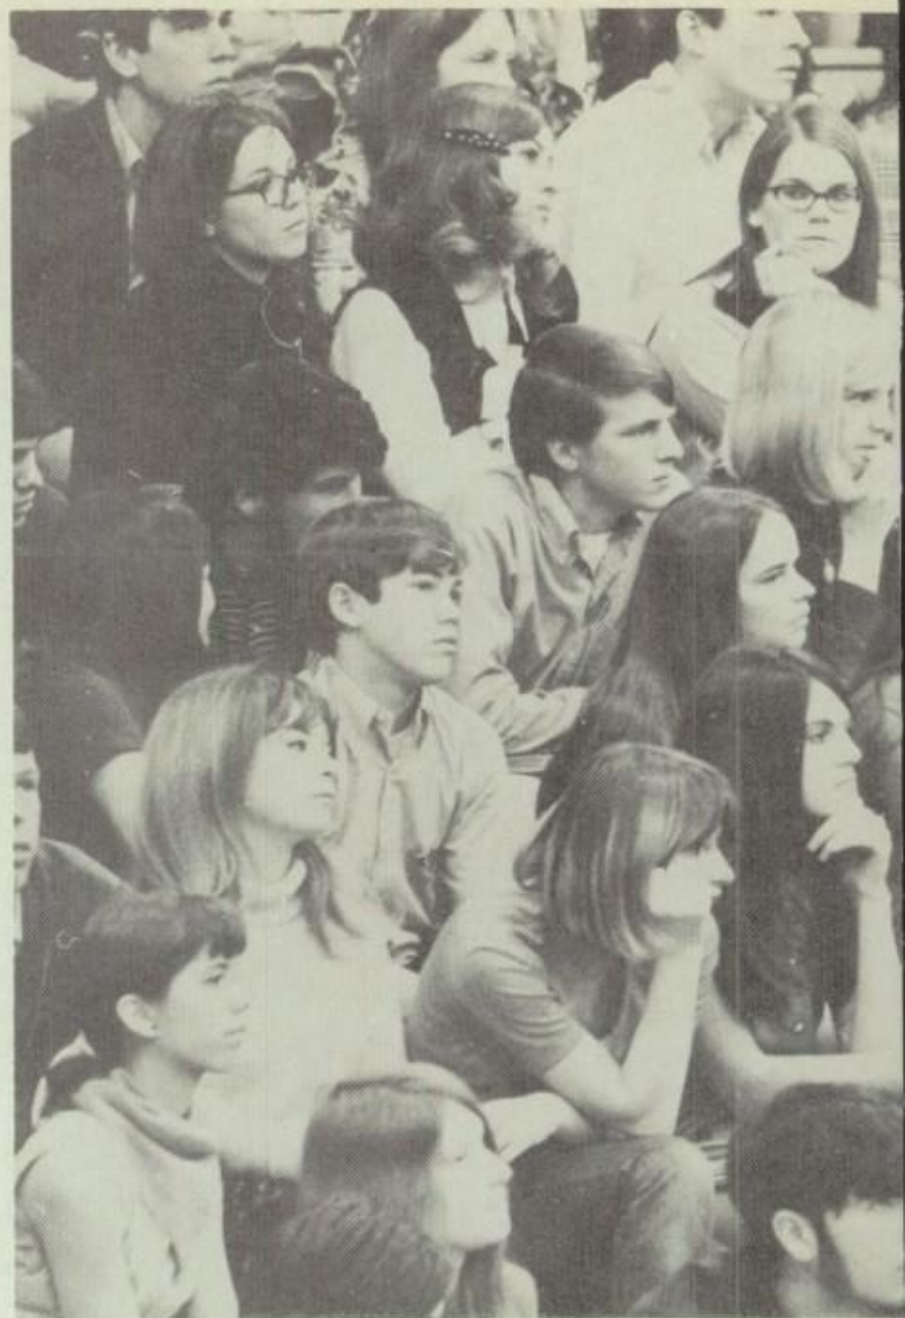

Princesses Sandi Ledgerwood and Merrie Cole were named to the court in the Friday assembly. Amid the cheers of the student body, Cecile Hansen tearfully accepted her crown and flowers from Queen Daphne Wright who announced 1969's Homecoming Queen. Following the coronation, classes competed with skits and yells for Spirit Week.

That evening in the game against Centennial, Queen Cecile and her court, as well as the rest of the Cavalier fans, displayed their enthusiasm as the team defeated the Eagles 35-0 for a record-breaking win.

Randy McKnight, in the traditional style show for Girls' League members, models a stylish outfit. This particular event was a girls only affair.

Listening to drug user Jackson Taylor was a sobering experience. Hopefully, others can learn from his painful, horror-filled life of drugs.

Boys' and Girls' Leagues sponsor joint assemblies

To provide greater entertainment and educational experiences, Girls' League and Boys' League joined forces to sponsor two well received assemblies. The first was a music-filled group called Soul that rocked the gymnasium with rhythm. For a finale, students were urged to sing and swing to the popular song, "Oh Happy Day."

Drug life told

The second joint-sponsored assembly featured Jackson Taylor, former drug addict, who related his experiences with various forms of drugs and crime.

To an attentive audience Taylor warned students to take "two minutes to weigh what you've got to lose and what you've got to gain" before experimenting with various forms of drugs.

Taylor started by "popping pills," but he soon began "shooting speed" and heroin as his resistance to milder forms grew. His heroin habit necessitated stealing $300 a day to support a $100 a day hunger.

Still dependent upon a synthetic drug, methadone, the articulate and grey-eyed speaker recalled hitting his head against jail bars to knock himself out in order to relieve the cramping pains of withdrawal.

"Everyone has something that is important to them," he related, "but when you are hooked on heroin, nothing is important anymore. Nothing but getting that next fix. Time, money, health, freedom, and finally life are unimportant."

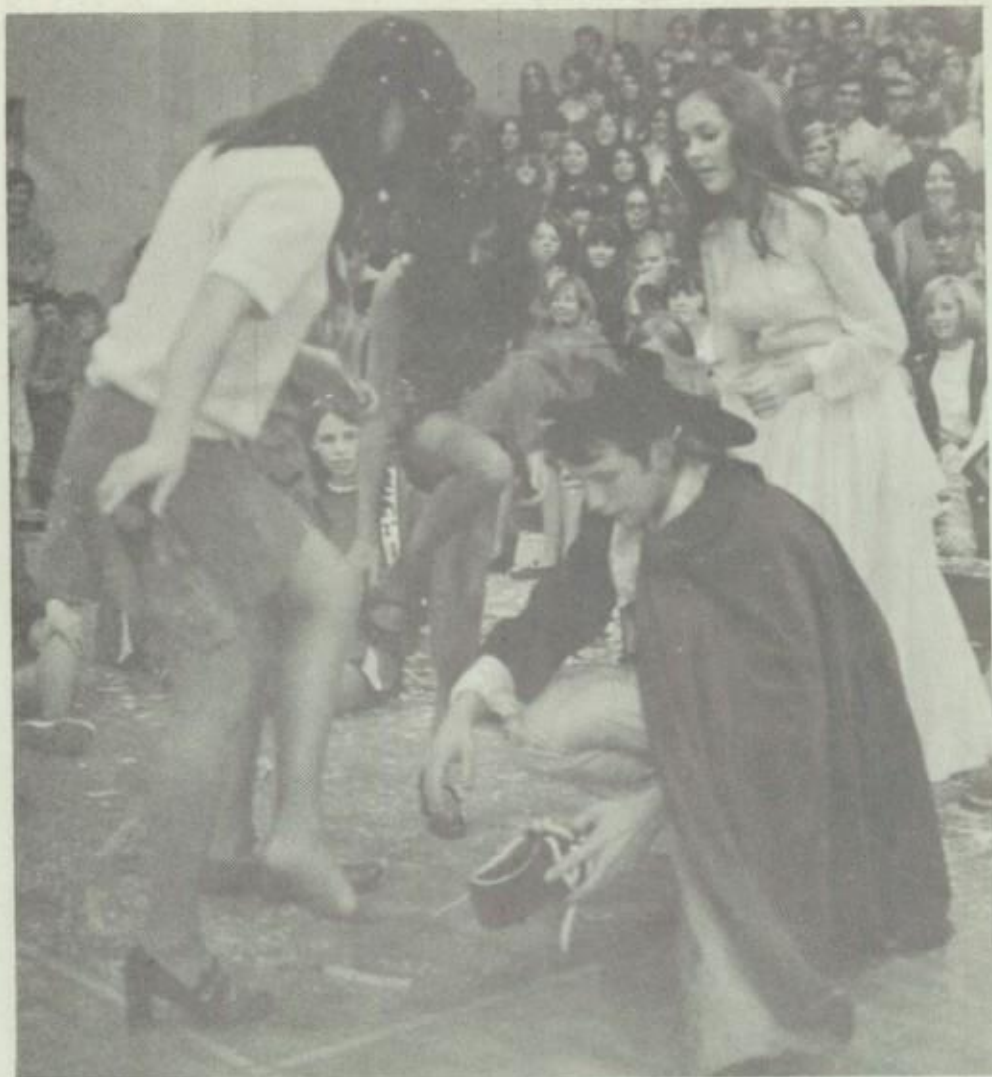

"Babes in Toyland," the theme of this year's Christmas formal, created an atmosphere of fantasy and delight for the many couples attending the function. At left, Diane Bowker, junior princess, and escort Randy Snyder, dance to the music of the Big-Little Band. Displaying presents to be donated to Big Brother are Queen Meredith Taylor and Dave Rupp. Each couple was asked to bring a toy for this cause.

Christmas is sharing, laughter, and song

Holiday spirits prevailed as students joined together with ideas of sharing, laughter and song. An enormous tree was raised and decorated in the cafeteria, thanks to the efforts of Boys' and Girls' Leagues. As in previous years, classes engaged in a competition to collect cans for needy families. Sophomores took the lead as over 7,000 cans were collected by the entire student body. Featured below, Cavalaire perform in the Christmas assembly to relate what their feelings are on the true meaning of Christmas.

Students and faculty find niche for fun and games

"All work and no play" is certainly not a slogan that applies to CHS student and faculty members. School-time festivities such as poster-making and pep assemblies during spirit week involve many. Another crowd is drawn Monday nights to intramurals, to use the trampoline, play volleyball, or basketball, or to swim at Oregon City's pool.

One particular attraction this year was a basketball game between the KISN Good Guys and the CHS faculty. Extensive fouling, sneaky plays and even a touchdown were all part of the game.

Winter Homecoming Court crowns victorious season

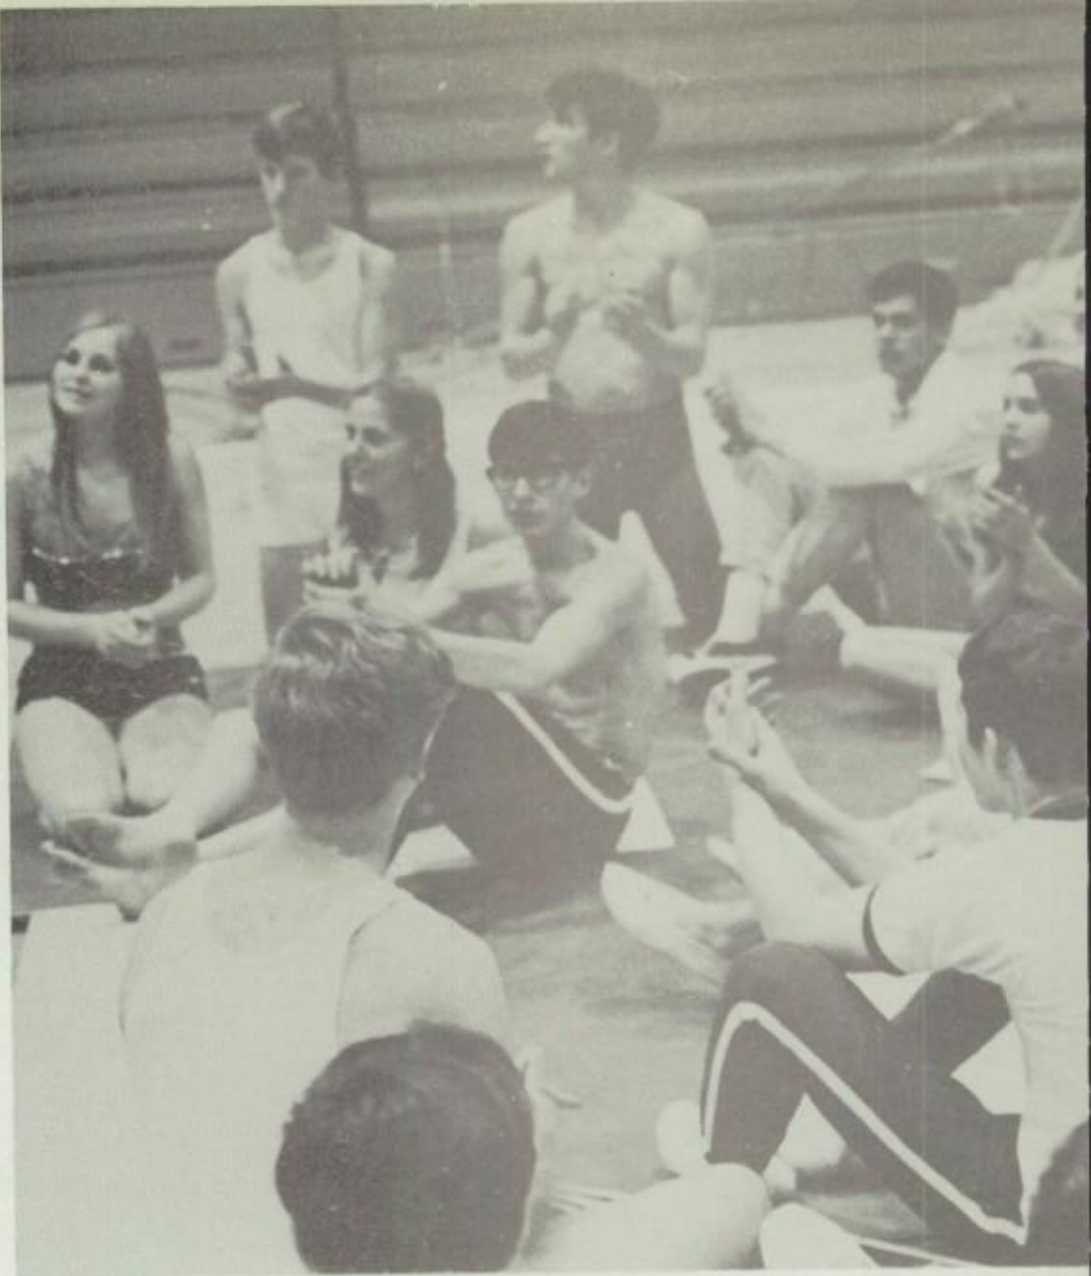

Once again the crowns were placed as the 1970 Basketball Homecoming Court was selected at the close of a victorious season. Chosen by the student body to be queen was Linda Barclay, and serving on her court were Princesses Chris Sexton and Linda Collins.

In conjunction with Homecoming festivities were Spirit Week activities. Posters bedecked the halls and cafeteria walls. The familiar skits were not presented in the afternoon assembly, but a rousing yell was contributed by all classes. During half-time of the game Queen Linda announced the seniors as winners for the second consecutive time.

Former Queen Lyn Grenz, as part of her official duty, has the honor of placing the crown on lovely and happy Linda.

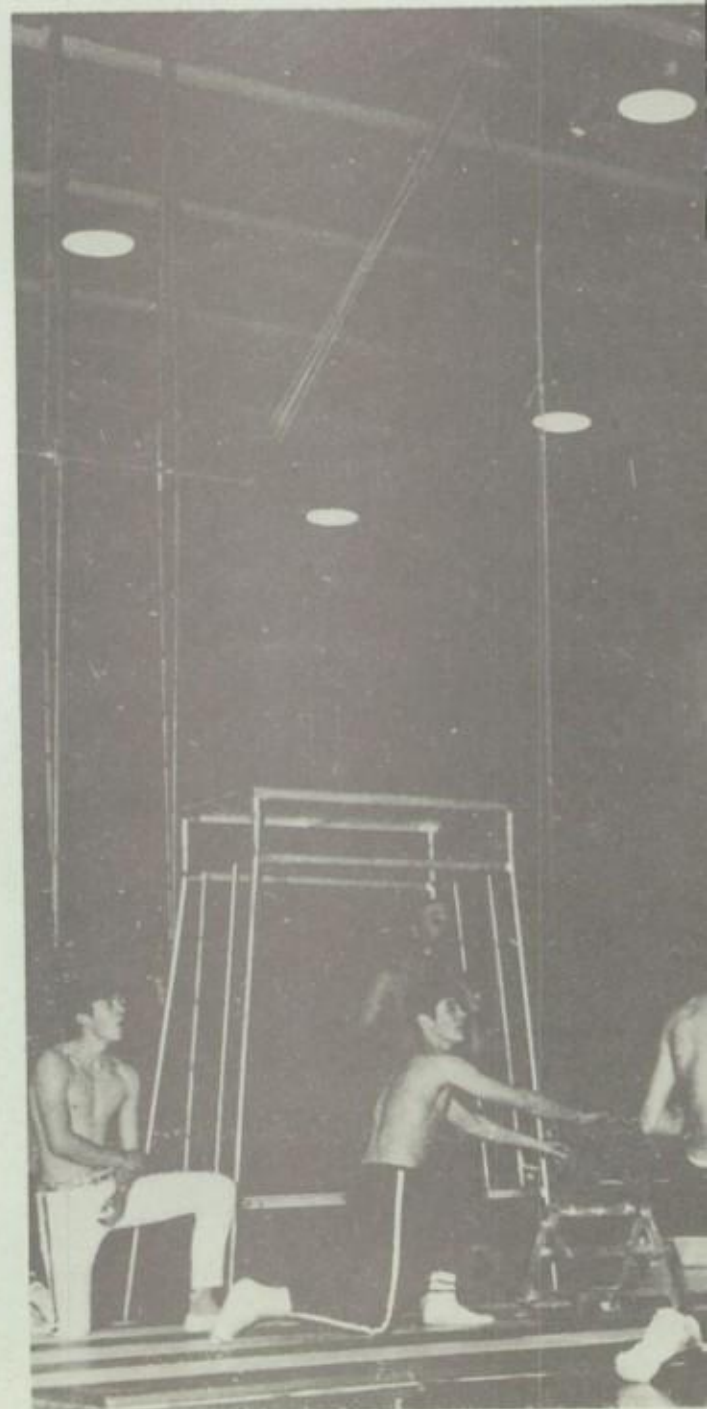

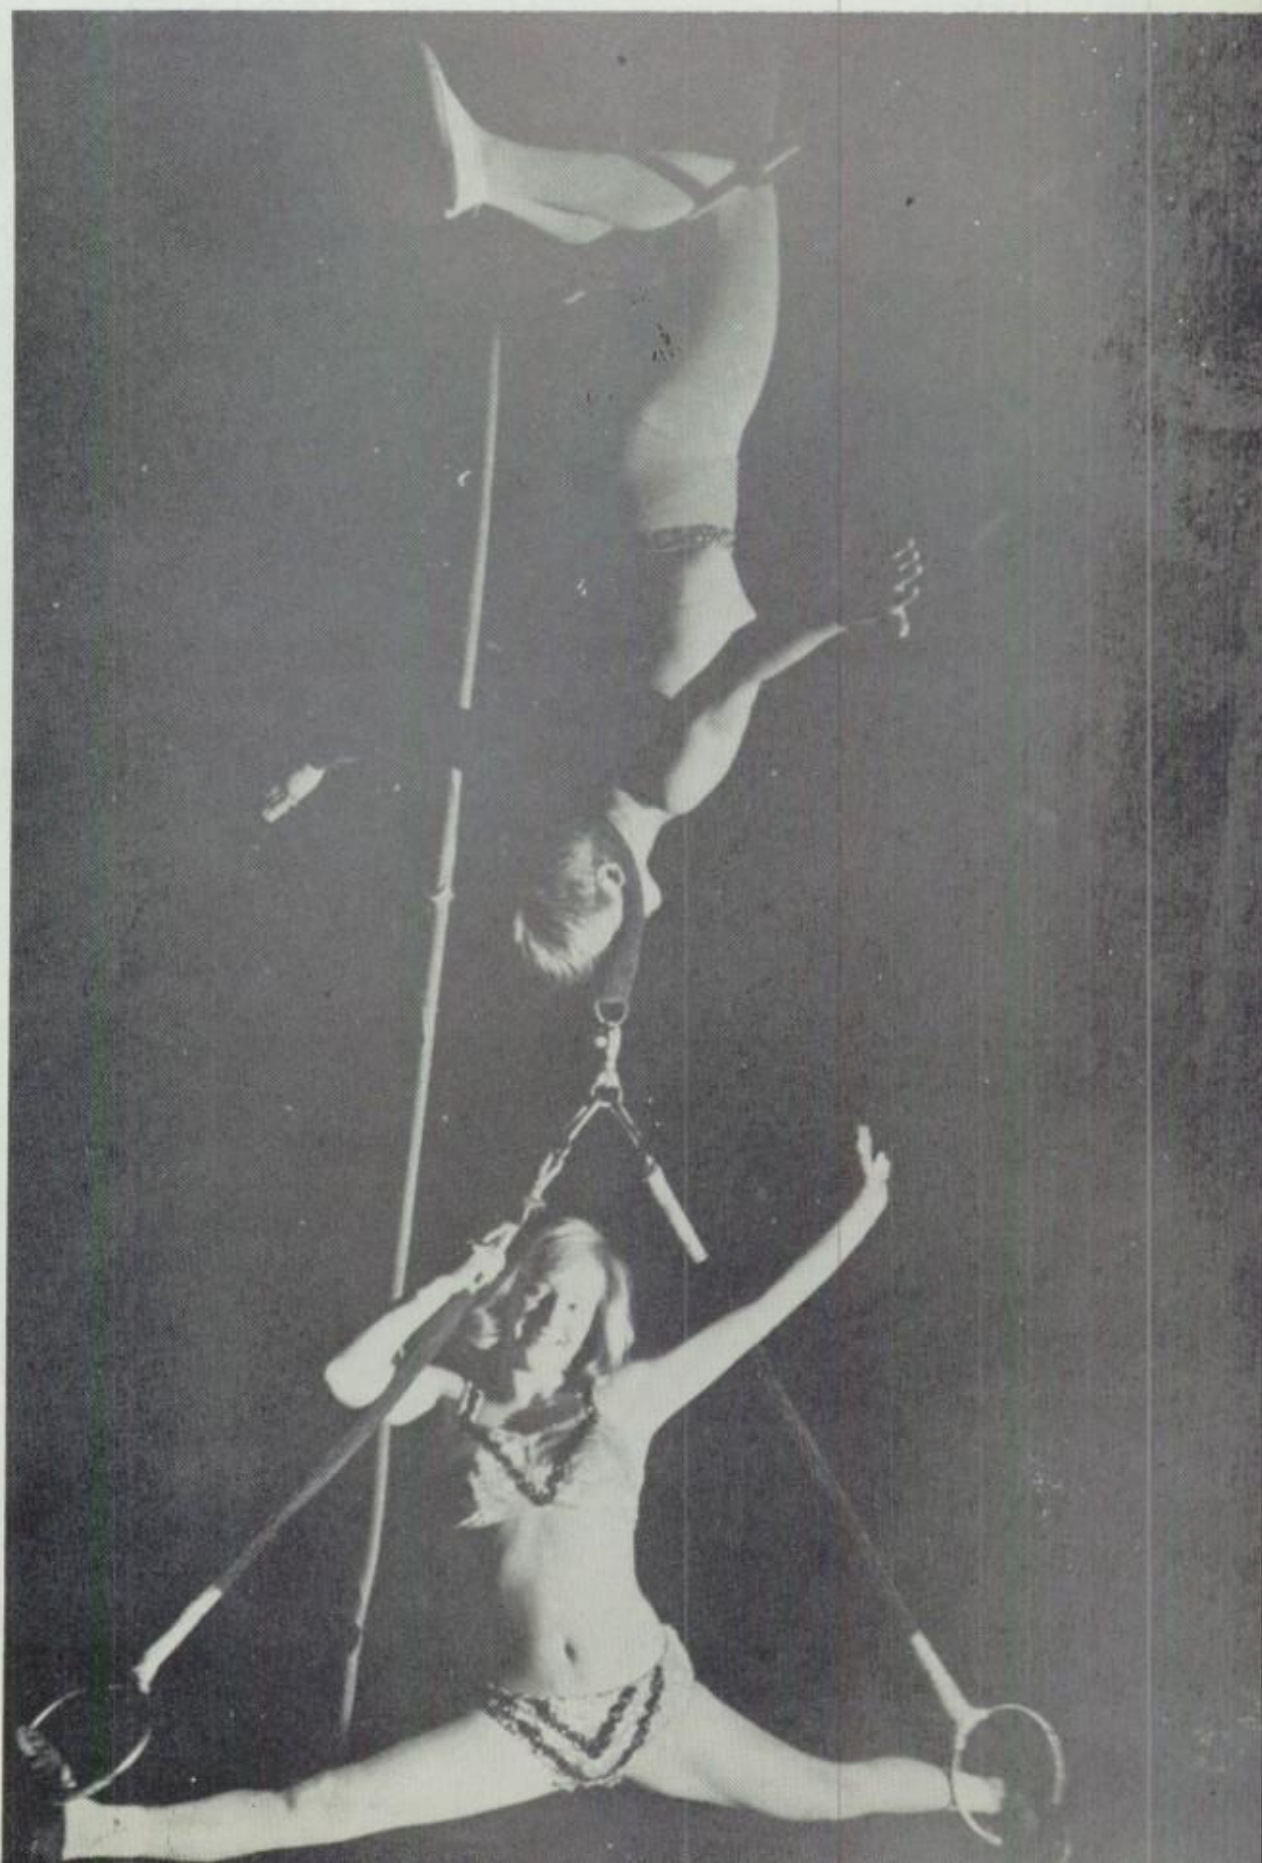

Circus eyes Central American tour

A tour of Central American countries is the focal point for the Clackamas High Youth Circus, in its sixth consecutive year. Preparations for the tour not only include perfecting approximately thirty acts, but raising the necessary funds. Christmas tree sales, bake sales, road shows, and donations are part of the money raising activities involved in obtaining the $18,200 budget.

Under the instruction of coach Dave Williams, students in this class strive daily to improve their skills since selection is made for all performing acts on a highest achievement basis. Ability, however, is not the only desirous quality in the forty circus members. Teamwork, pride, self-confidence, and imagination play just as significant a role in maintaining the image of the group.

Earth Day stimulates student concern for environment

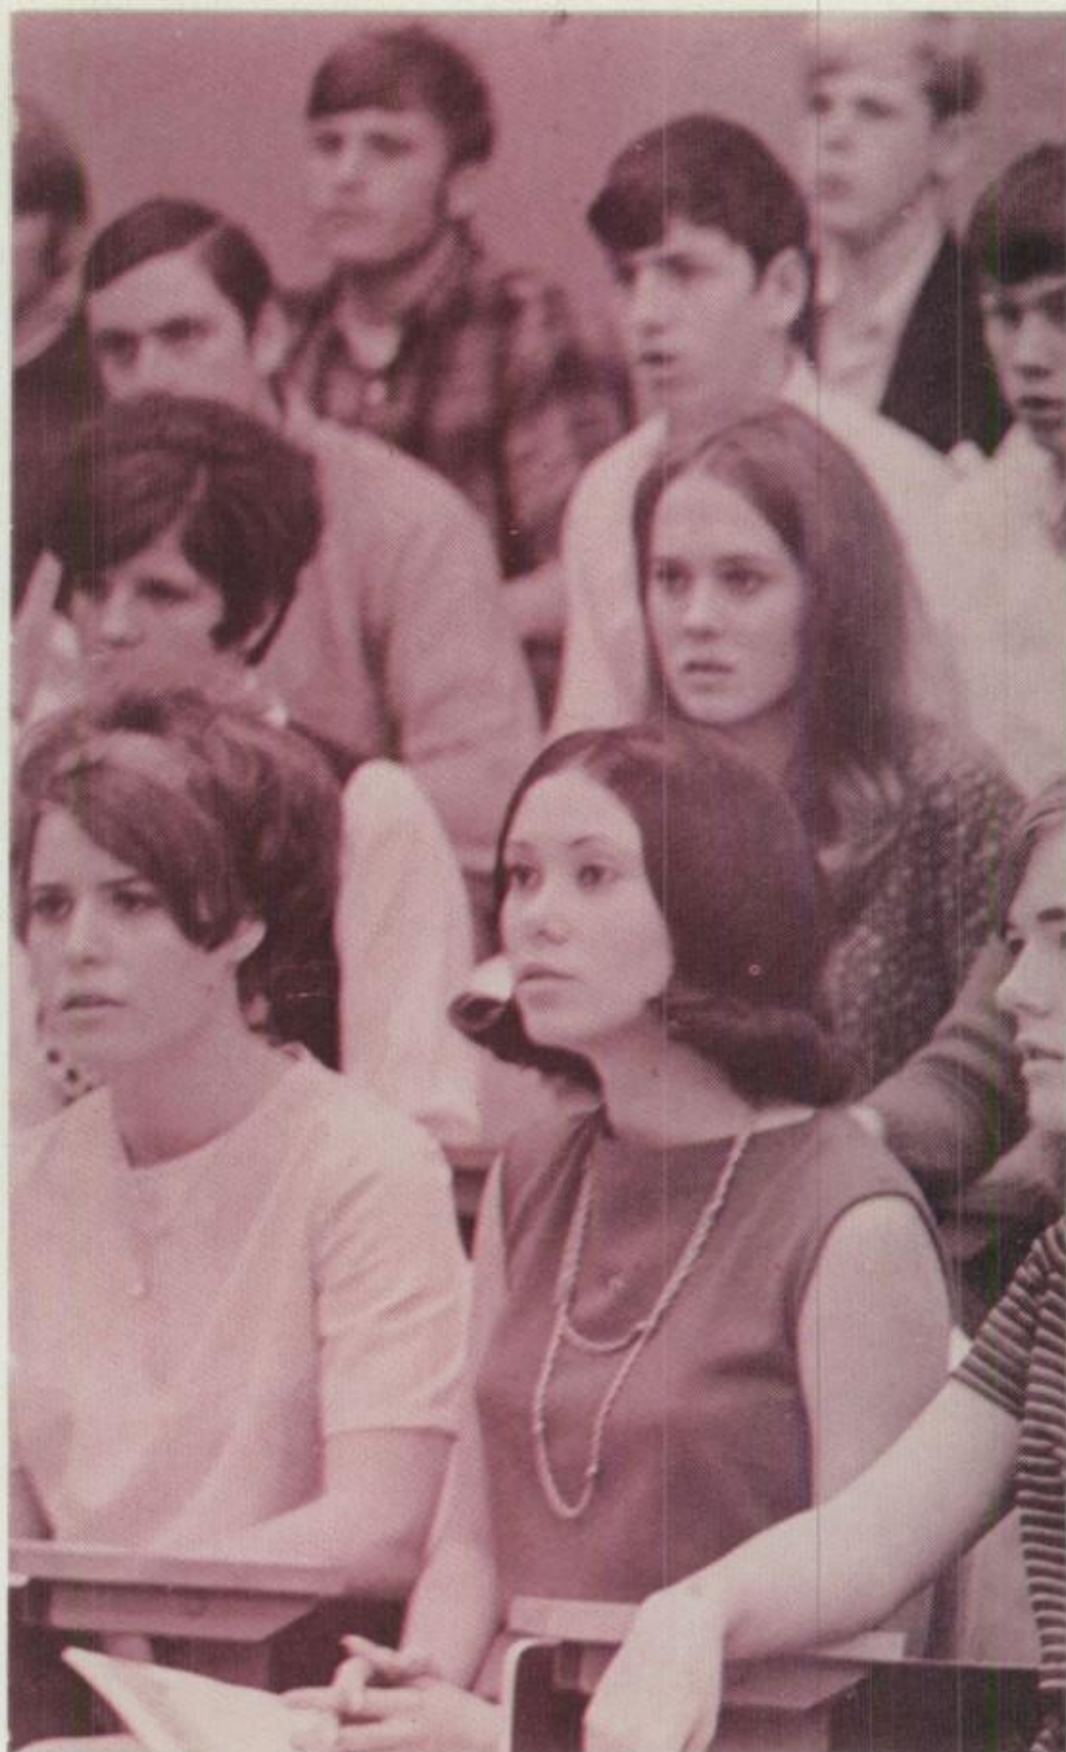

Earth Day, April 22, found thousands of students across the nation participating in activities to make people more aware of environmental problems: overpopulation, solid waste disposal, and destruction of natural resources.

Dr. Squire, a professor at Reed College, and Bob Reynolds, a candidate for the State Legislature, spoke on overpopulation and conservation in the morning assembly. Two-children families were stressed by both gentlemen.

Afternoon assemblies included such topics as DDT, individual responsibilities, plus numerous films. A clean-up and tree-planting session at North Clackamas Park was the biology students' primary contribution for Earth Day.

FINE ARTS

To create a perfect performance takes talent, interest, and sincere effort from every student involved in a Fine Arts production.

Through this department students are provided an opportunity to express themselves in art, drama, music, and speech.

Fall production, 'Stage Door,' portrays trials of theatre life

New York is the city of bright hopes and big eyes, and many a girl has come to this exuberant city to climb the ladder to stardom. Some have made it.

In Stage Door, by Edna Ferber and George Kautman, a boarding house for girls who are seeking stage careers is the scene of the play. Jean Maitland (Nancy Foreman) is successful in her attempt to be in the big time by influencing the right people at the right time in the right way. Terry Randall (Joette Rose) had her chance to reach the big time through pictures but she refused and claimed it just was not like the stage.

Many others lived in the boarding house and their loves were just as glamorous or tragic, but in every group there must be the top few who really make it.

"I have been pinched in worse places."

"Waal git busy!"

"Don't you have something better to do?"

At a very formal gathering Professor Higgins subconsciously bites his lip and anxiously awaits what the evening will reveal. How are people going to react to Eliza Doolittle? Most of all, how is Eliza going to react to people?

My Fair Lady, an Alan Jay Lerner and Fredrick Low musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's Pygamilion, tells the story of a common flower girl's successful masquerade as a duchess - a feat accomplished by mastering and spoofing England's language barrier.

To Higgins, Eliza is a great linguistic challenge. "What's to become of me?" she pleads, however, now that she is no longer satisfied with her previous role and has an uncertain future.

"There are your slippers, and there!"

National Forensics League aided by new coach

Tournaments, debates, exhibitions, and honors were all a part of National Forensics League for the 1969-70 season. A new coach and 25 young squad members can be confusing components. But the Clackamas team prefers to be called "enthusiastic" and "exciting."

Senior Clark Casperson recopies his speech at the Lewis and Clark hosted tournament. Confidence and poise are two benefits derived from developing speaking skills.

Mrs. Edginton displays proper speaking techniques.

Cavalairens blend voices, create goodwill

Cavalairens, a 22 member ensemble, not only perform at functions but also promote goodwill throughout the Milwaukie district. Outside engagements include benefit dinners, Christmas caroling and entertainment for various community groups.

A cappella choir shows active participation

Total participation and unity are combined to make an outstanding 76 member a cappella choir.

Under the guidance and direction of Mr. Don Wolfe, the choir raised money for a spring tour.

A pancake breakfast, paper drives, car washes, garage sales, candy and Christmas decorations sales are only a few of the many fund raising projects.

During the year, A choir sang at school concerts, and also fulfilled outside engagements including performances at several elementary grade schools. During Christmas the choir sang at Lloyd Center plus a show at the First State Bank in Milwaukie.

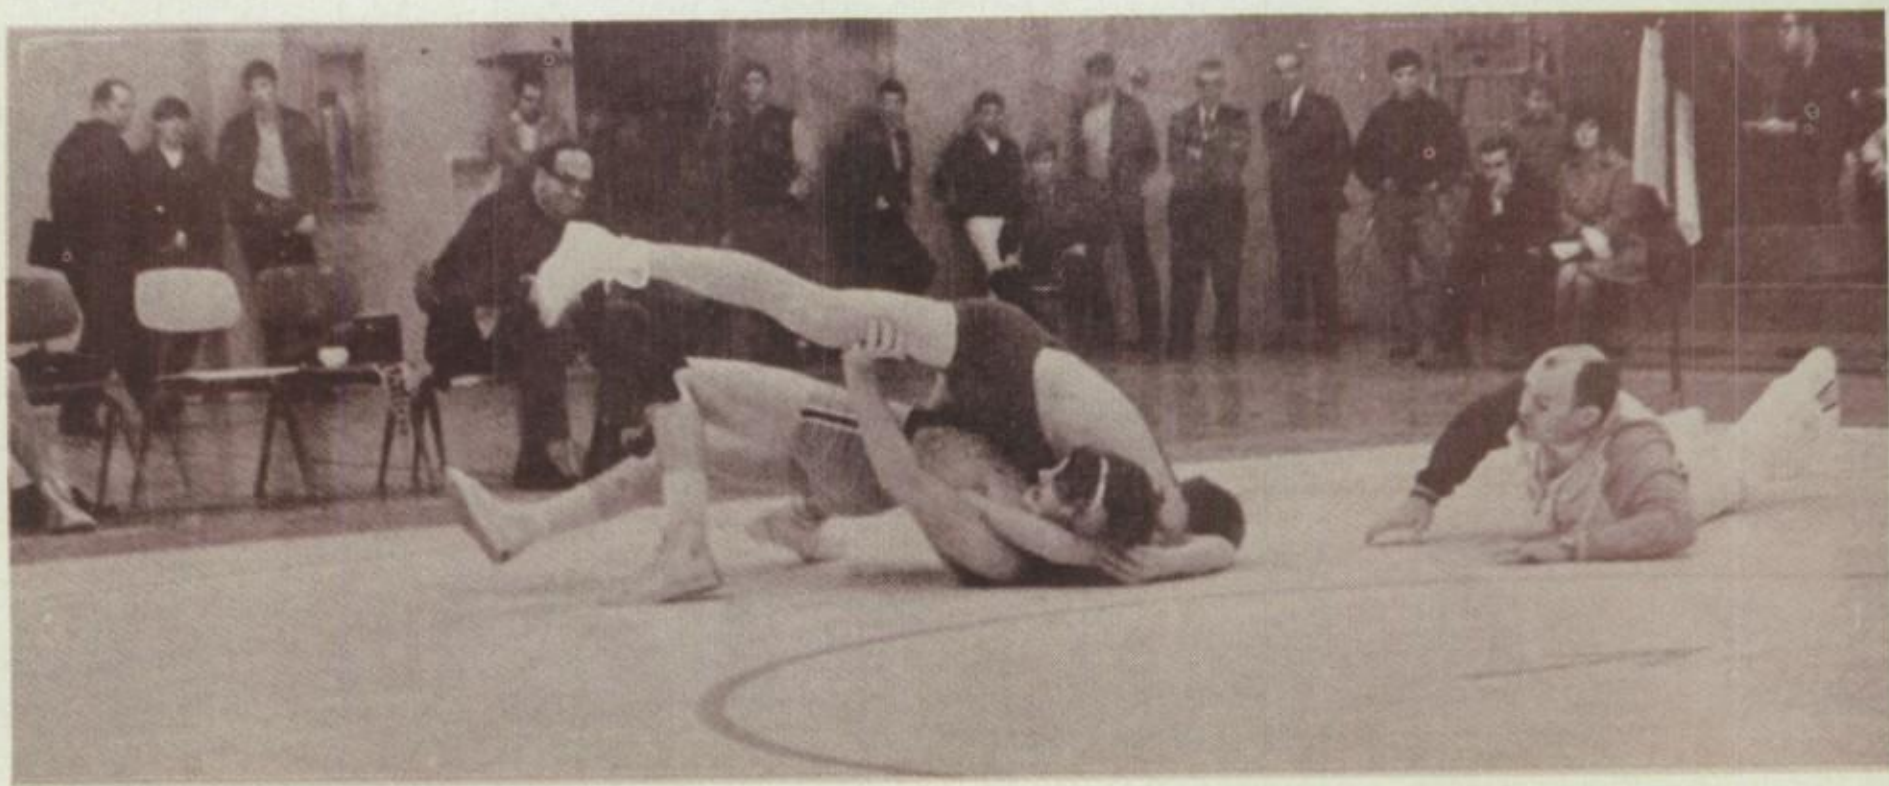

Bands set beat, serve as goodwill ambassadors

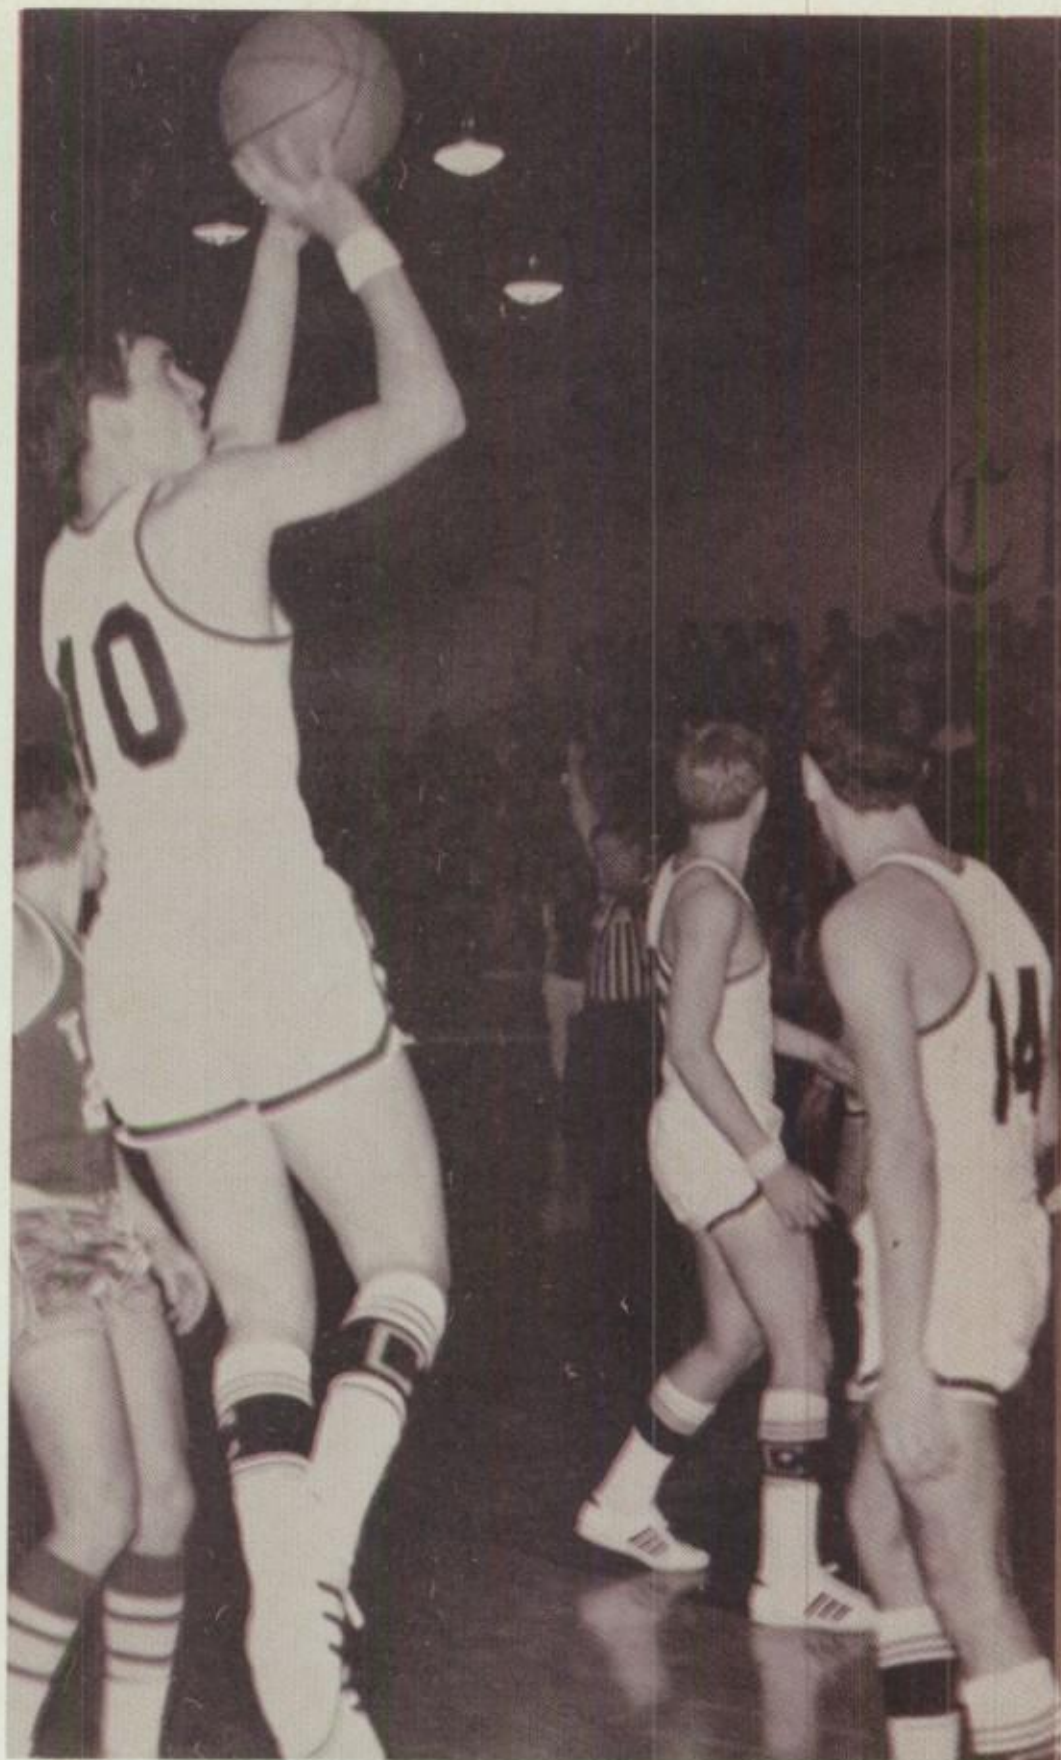

Pep Band, Orchestra, and Stage Band are just a few of the different areas which are offered students with instrumental music ability. The bands offer an additional touch to such events as home games, assemblies, school plays, and the Clackamas name to the memories of judges at festivals and contests.

For five out of seven years the Stage Band has traveled to Reno Nevada and participated in the Reno Festival. This is both a festival and a contest. This year the student director of the Stage Band is Lanny Hubbard.

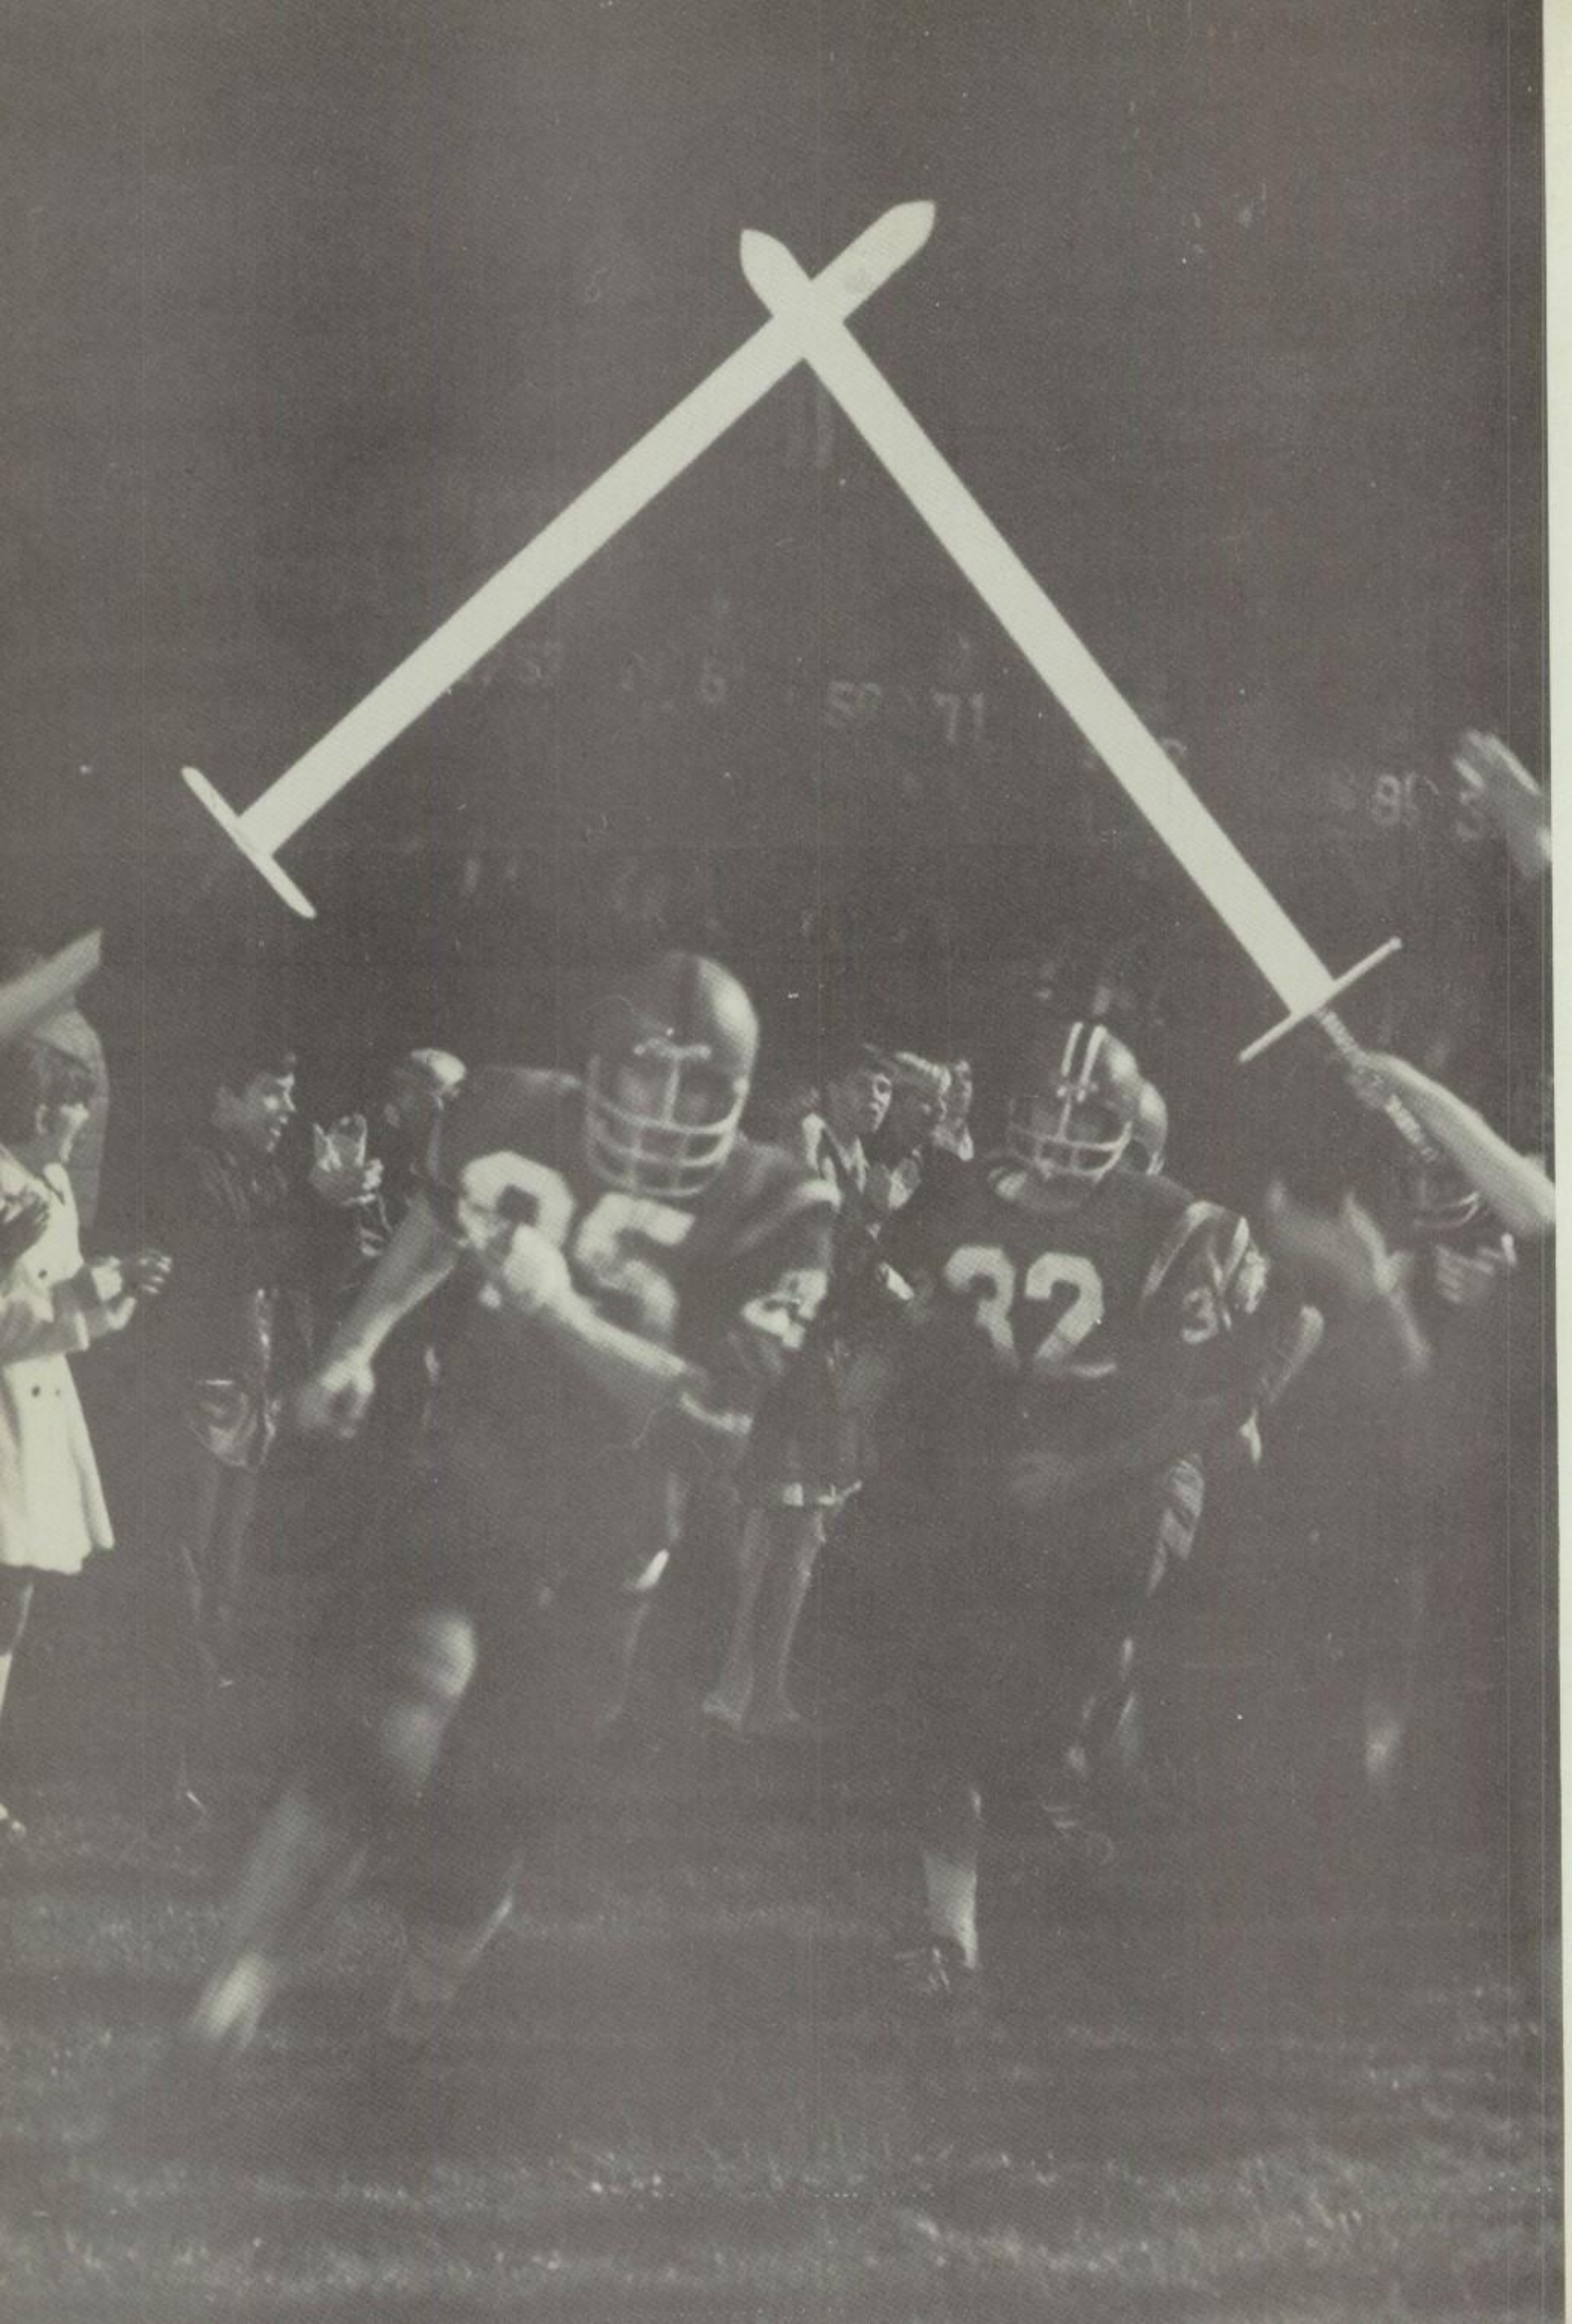

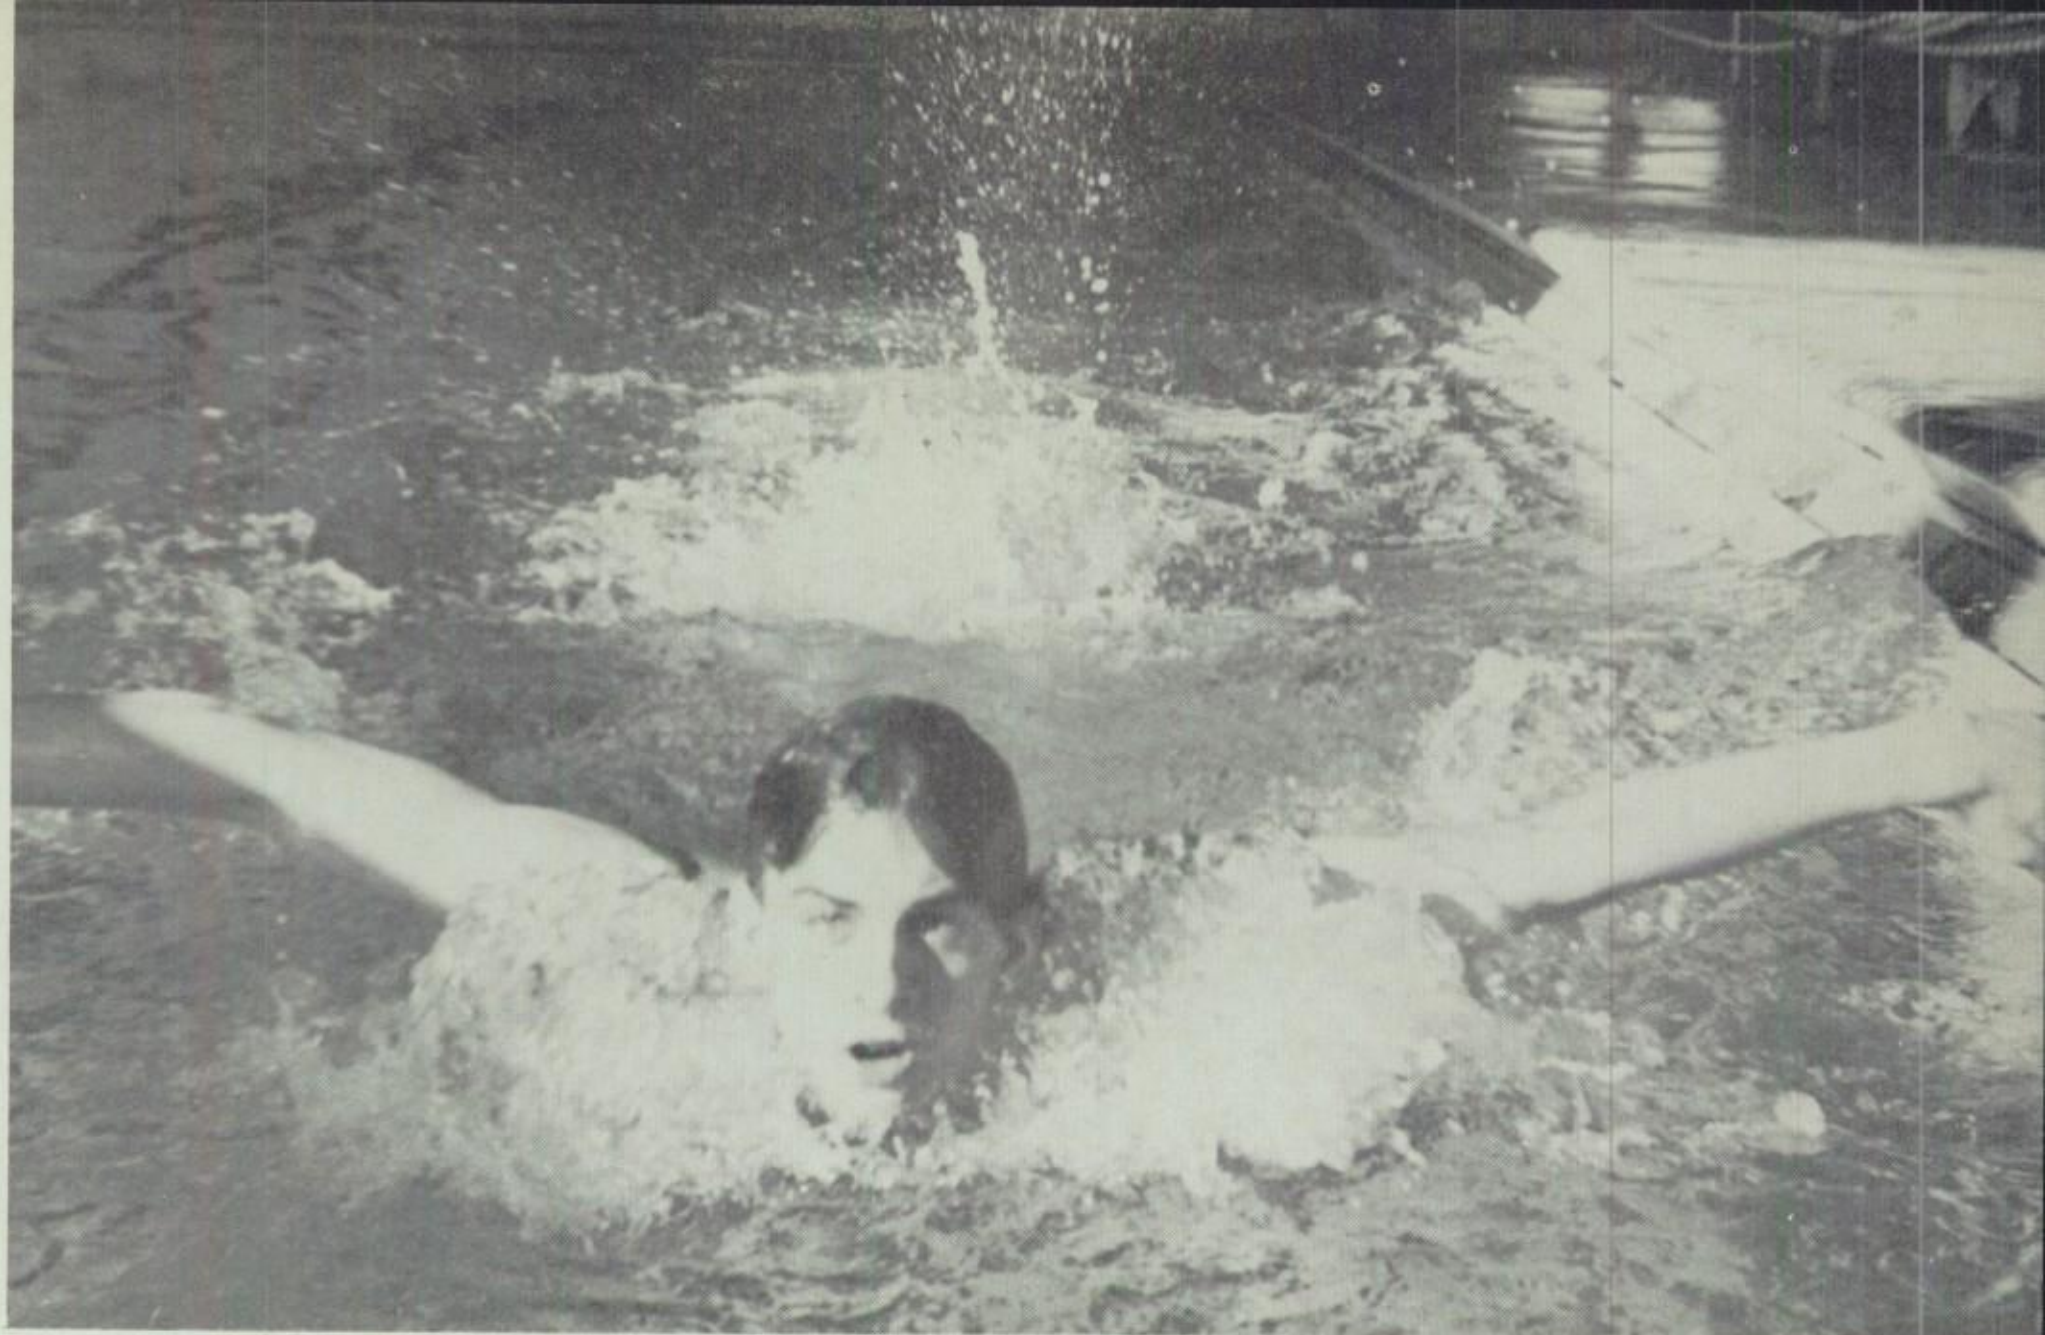

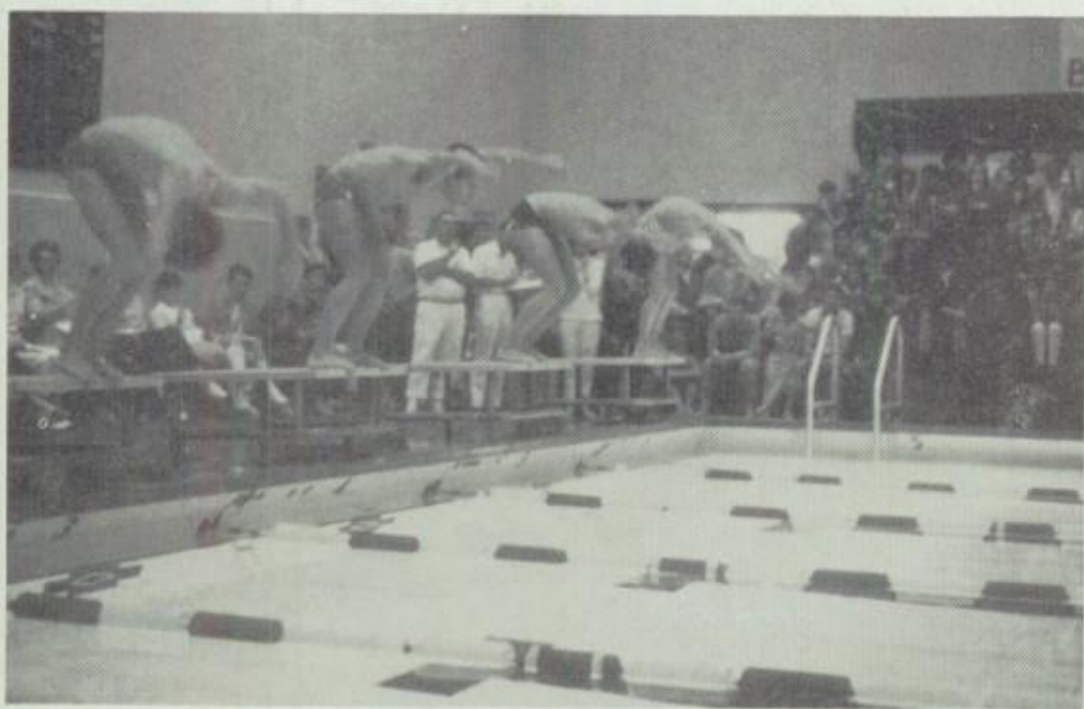

SPORTS

Swim team gains in experience

... But not in size. For three years, Ric Foreman has been Clackamas' only competitive swimmer. Although he practices and travels with the David Douglas team, all personal points he receives are credited to Clackamas.

At the state meet in November, Ric honored the school by taking first place in the 100 yard butterfly in 53.9 seconds during the preliminary competition to break Don Schollander's best high school time. In the finals Ric trimmed his time to 52.3 seconds, qualifying him as an All-American. Pictures of that event are at the left.

Generating spirit the Cavaliers huddle for a pre-game

Team effort pays off

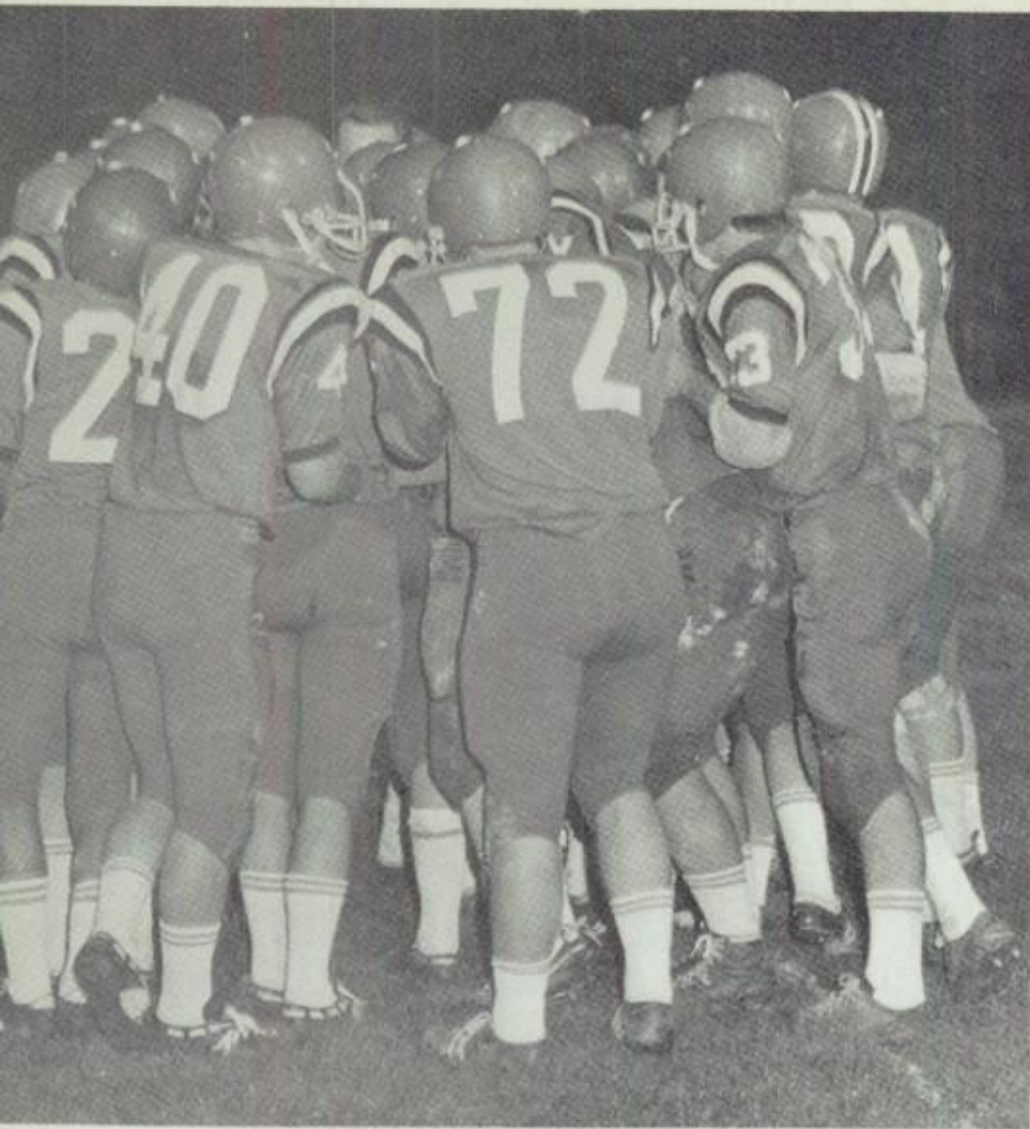

The Cavalier gridders bettered previous school records by compiling a respectful 6-2-1.

Head coach Mr. Robin Beck noted that "teamwork was the key to our success." a versatile offense and a hard nosed defense helped conquer such enemies as Milwaukie, 7-6, and David Douglas, 14-6.

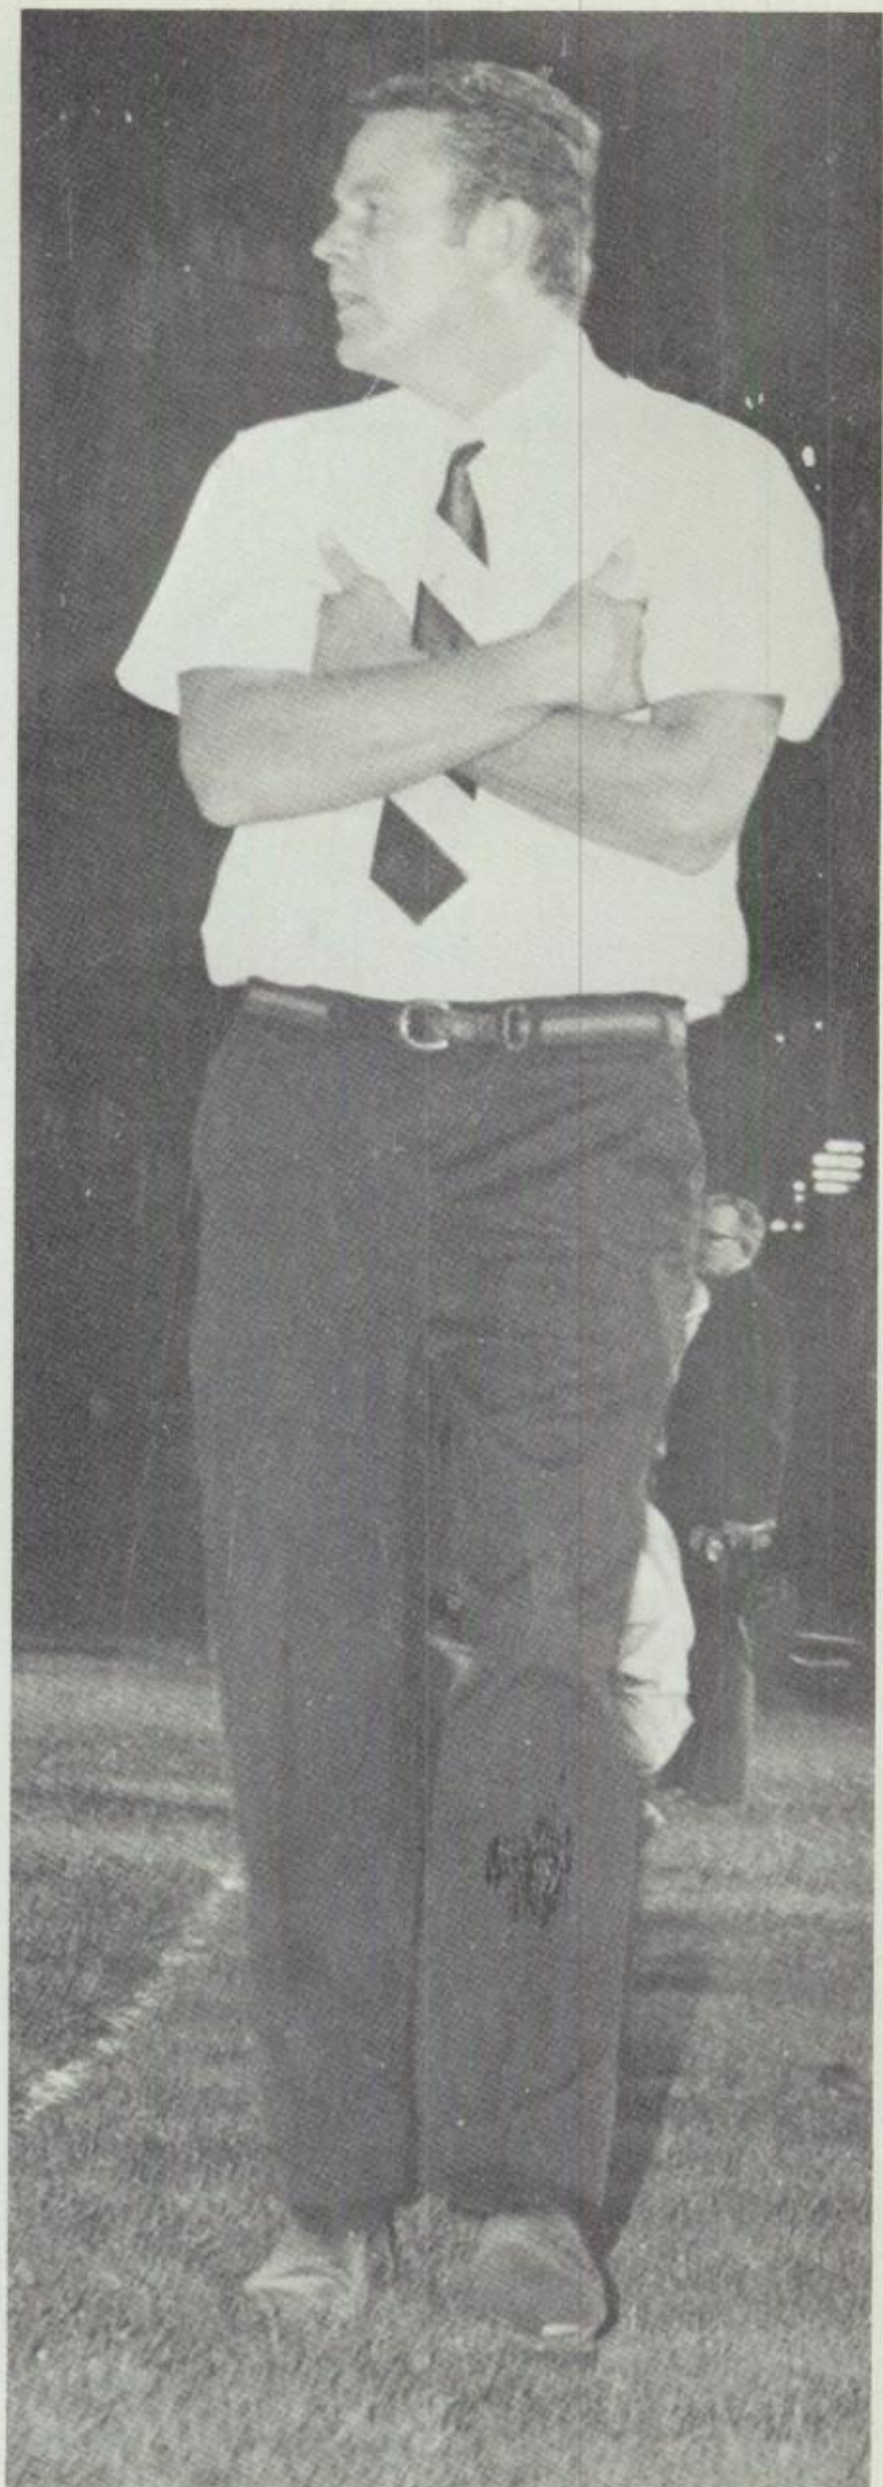

The victory over Milwaukie brought the coveted bell to Clackamas for the second time. By defeating Douglas, the Cavs established a first in 12 years of competition between the two teams.

Rearrangement in the present Metro League membership will alter Clackamas' opponents next fall. Based on locale and school size, the new league hopefully will provide Clackamas with a better opportunity to establish itself as a football power.

WINTER

Basketball

Team ranks fourth, reaches Coliseum

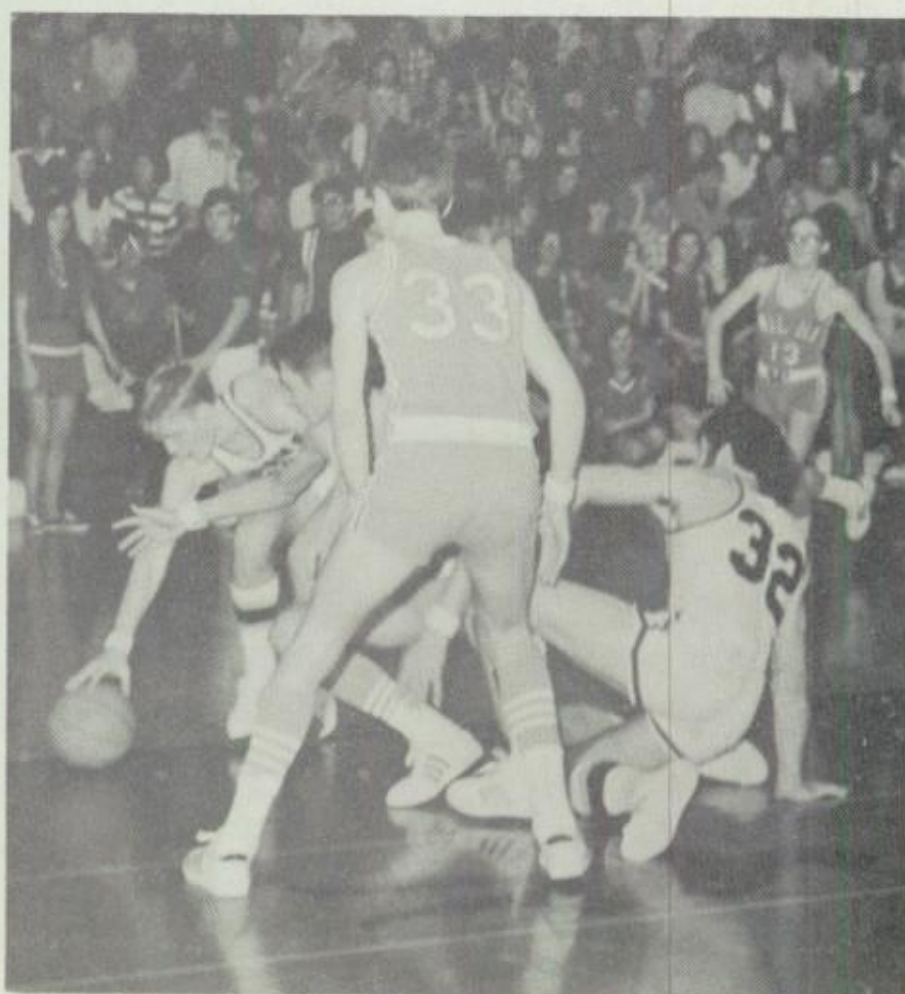

Defeating Putnam in a 50-48 battle enabled the Cavs to enter the district play-offs for the first time. Playing Beaverton for a state birth, the Cav round ballers dropped a heart breaking 53-38 game. The loss gave the Cavs a fourth place in the Metro League, establishing a record.

During the latter part of the season, the football Victory Bell was taken by a neighboring school. But a double defeat of Milwaukie proved it should remain ours. At left, Dan Isbell, named on the second all-Metro team, takes aim. The hustling guard averaged 12 points per game and led the defense attack.

Individuals, team honored at banquet

The 1970 Winter Sports Banquet capped an outstanding wrestling and basketball season. Both team praise and individual recognition were noted.

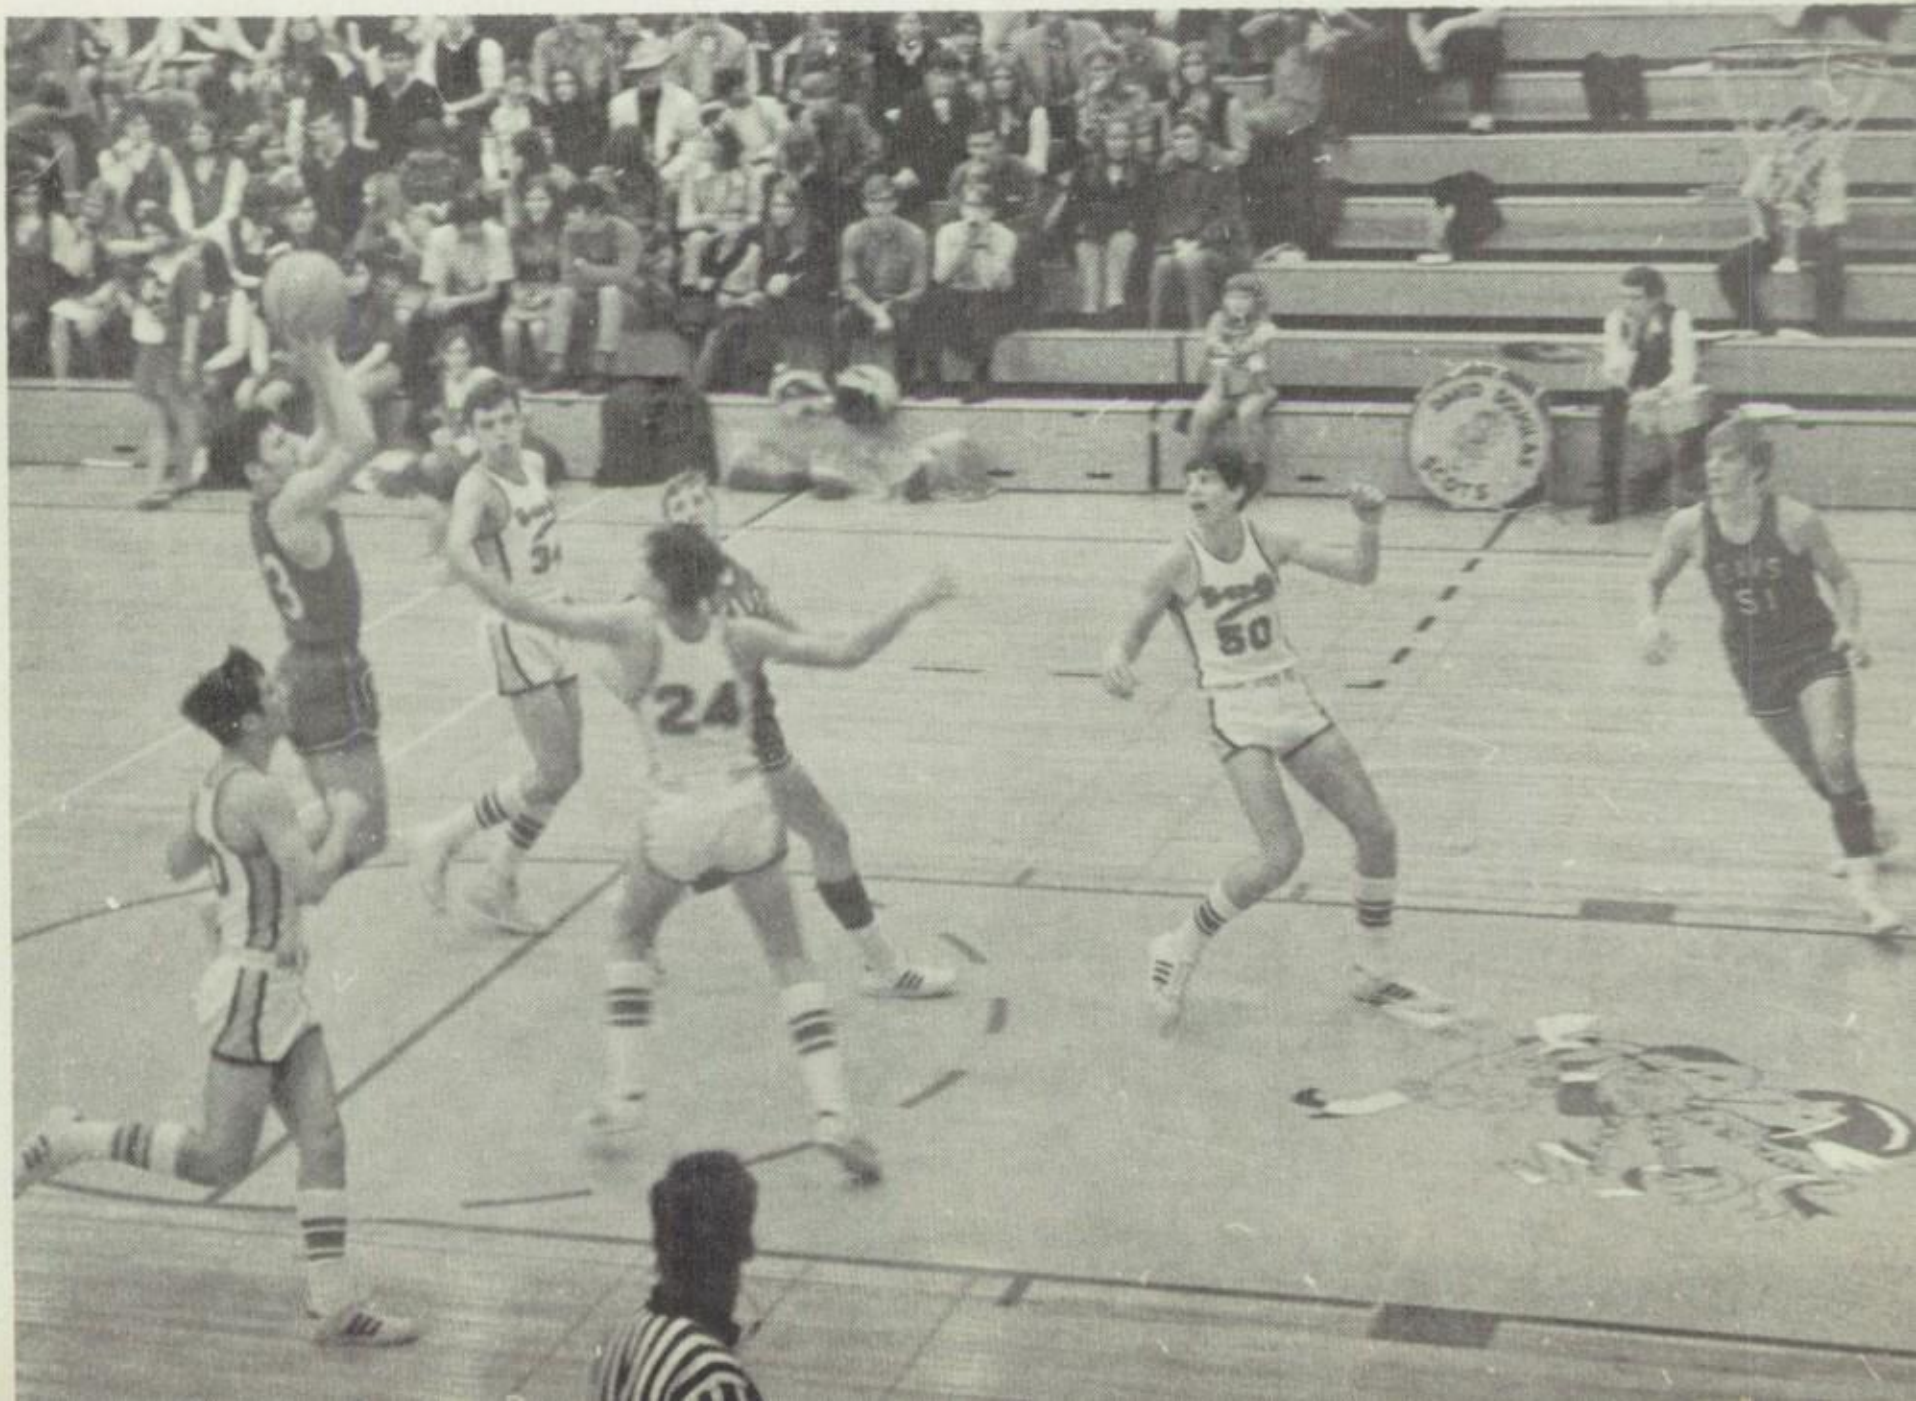

Individual basketball awards for a seasonal high of 15-9 included Dan Isbell, Most Valuable Player, co-winner of the Calhoun Award, and selection to the Metro all-star second team; Randy Snyder, co-winner of the Calhoun Award; Mike Wellock, Metro all-star honorable mention certificate; Steve Rickert, Most Inspirational and Most Improved awards.

Cavs compile history best 12-7 season

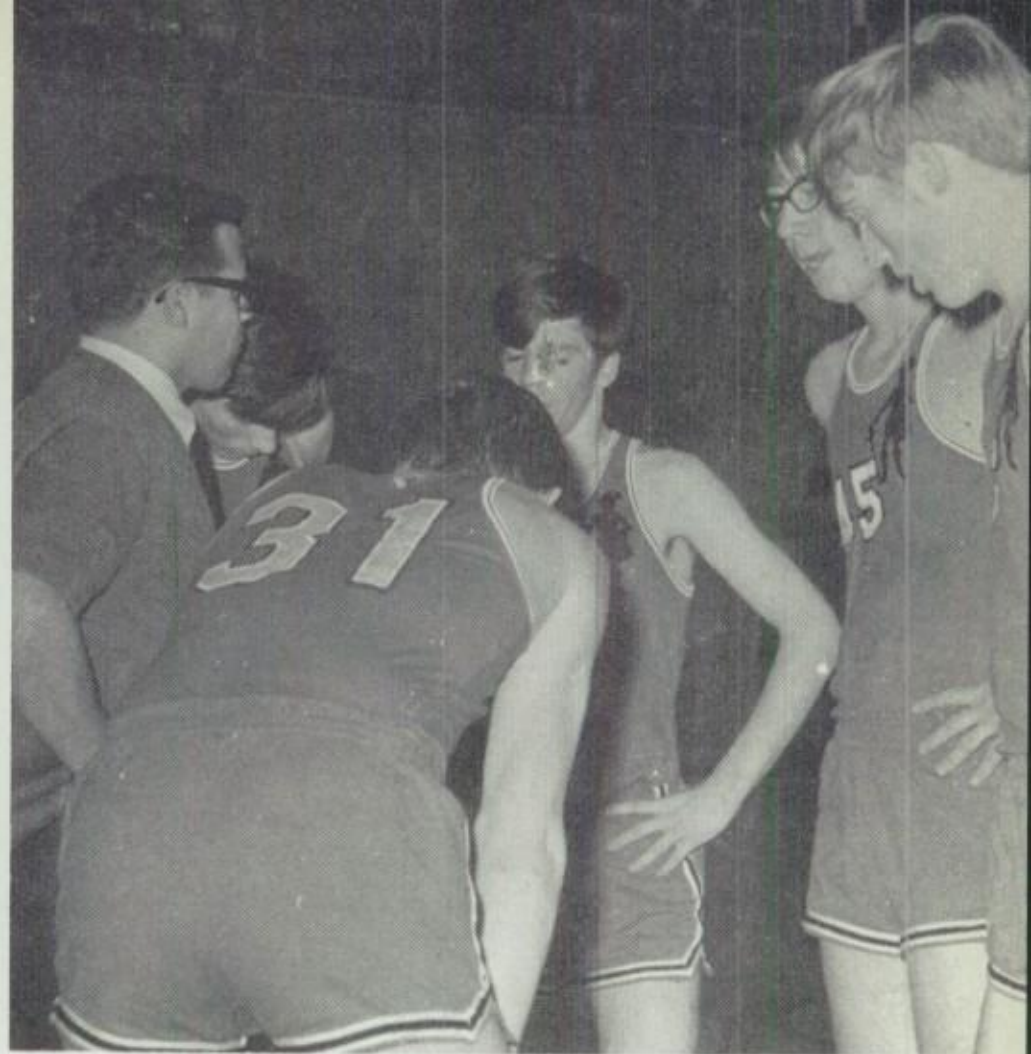

JV's net 8-14 season

Hustle and high spirit marked this year's junior varsity squad. Led by Dennis Birch's record-setting 160 field goals, the team managed an 8 win, 14 loss season. Dennis also lead the team with a 17.2 points-per-game average, scoring 33 points in one game for a season record.

Nabbing the most rebounds was 6'3" Paul Eldridge with a season tally of 213 grabs. He established a new J.V. single game rebound record by taking 22 wayward shots from the boards.

Chris Nielson, demonstrating team spirit and individual ability, established a record of 68 assists to duplicate his 68 field goal effort.

Coach Davidson, right, led the hard-driving, scrappy roundballers who are next year's hope for a competent, highly competitive varsity.

Frosh hit for seven victories, show great promise

Under Coach Wilkins' leadership, the frosh team managed a respectable 7-11 season. Close games (four ended with a margin of four or less points) marked the year. Mark Criss scored a record 272 points.

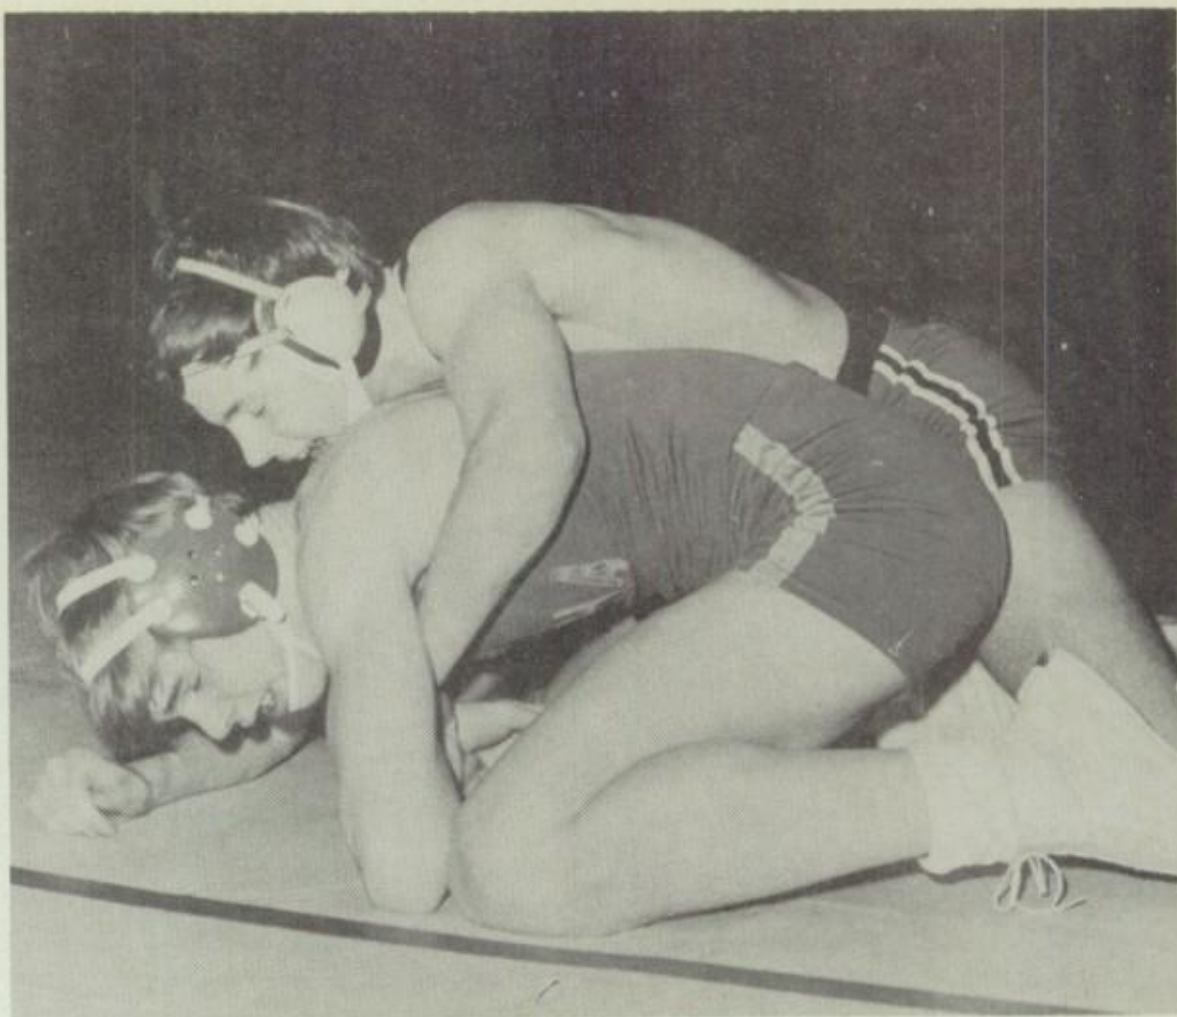

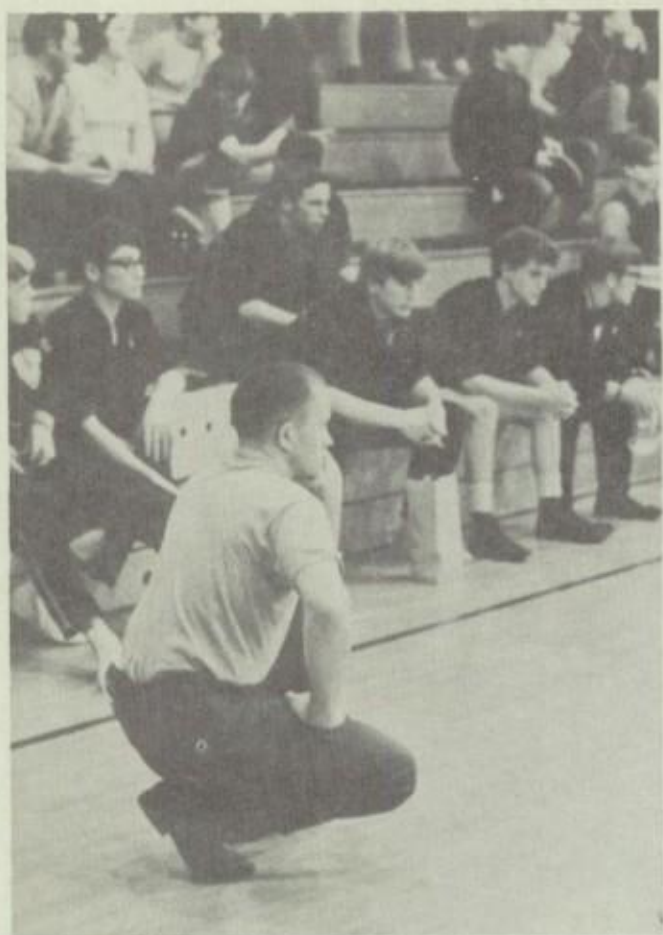

Wrestling

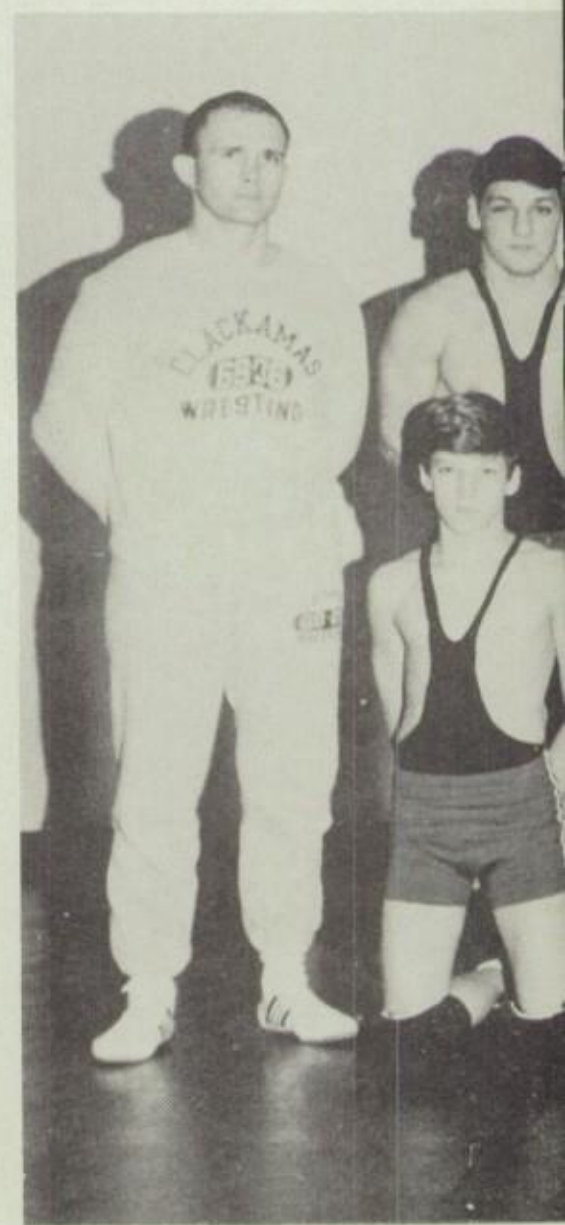

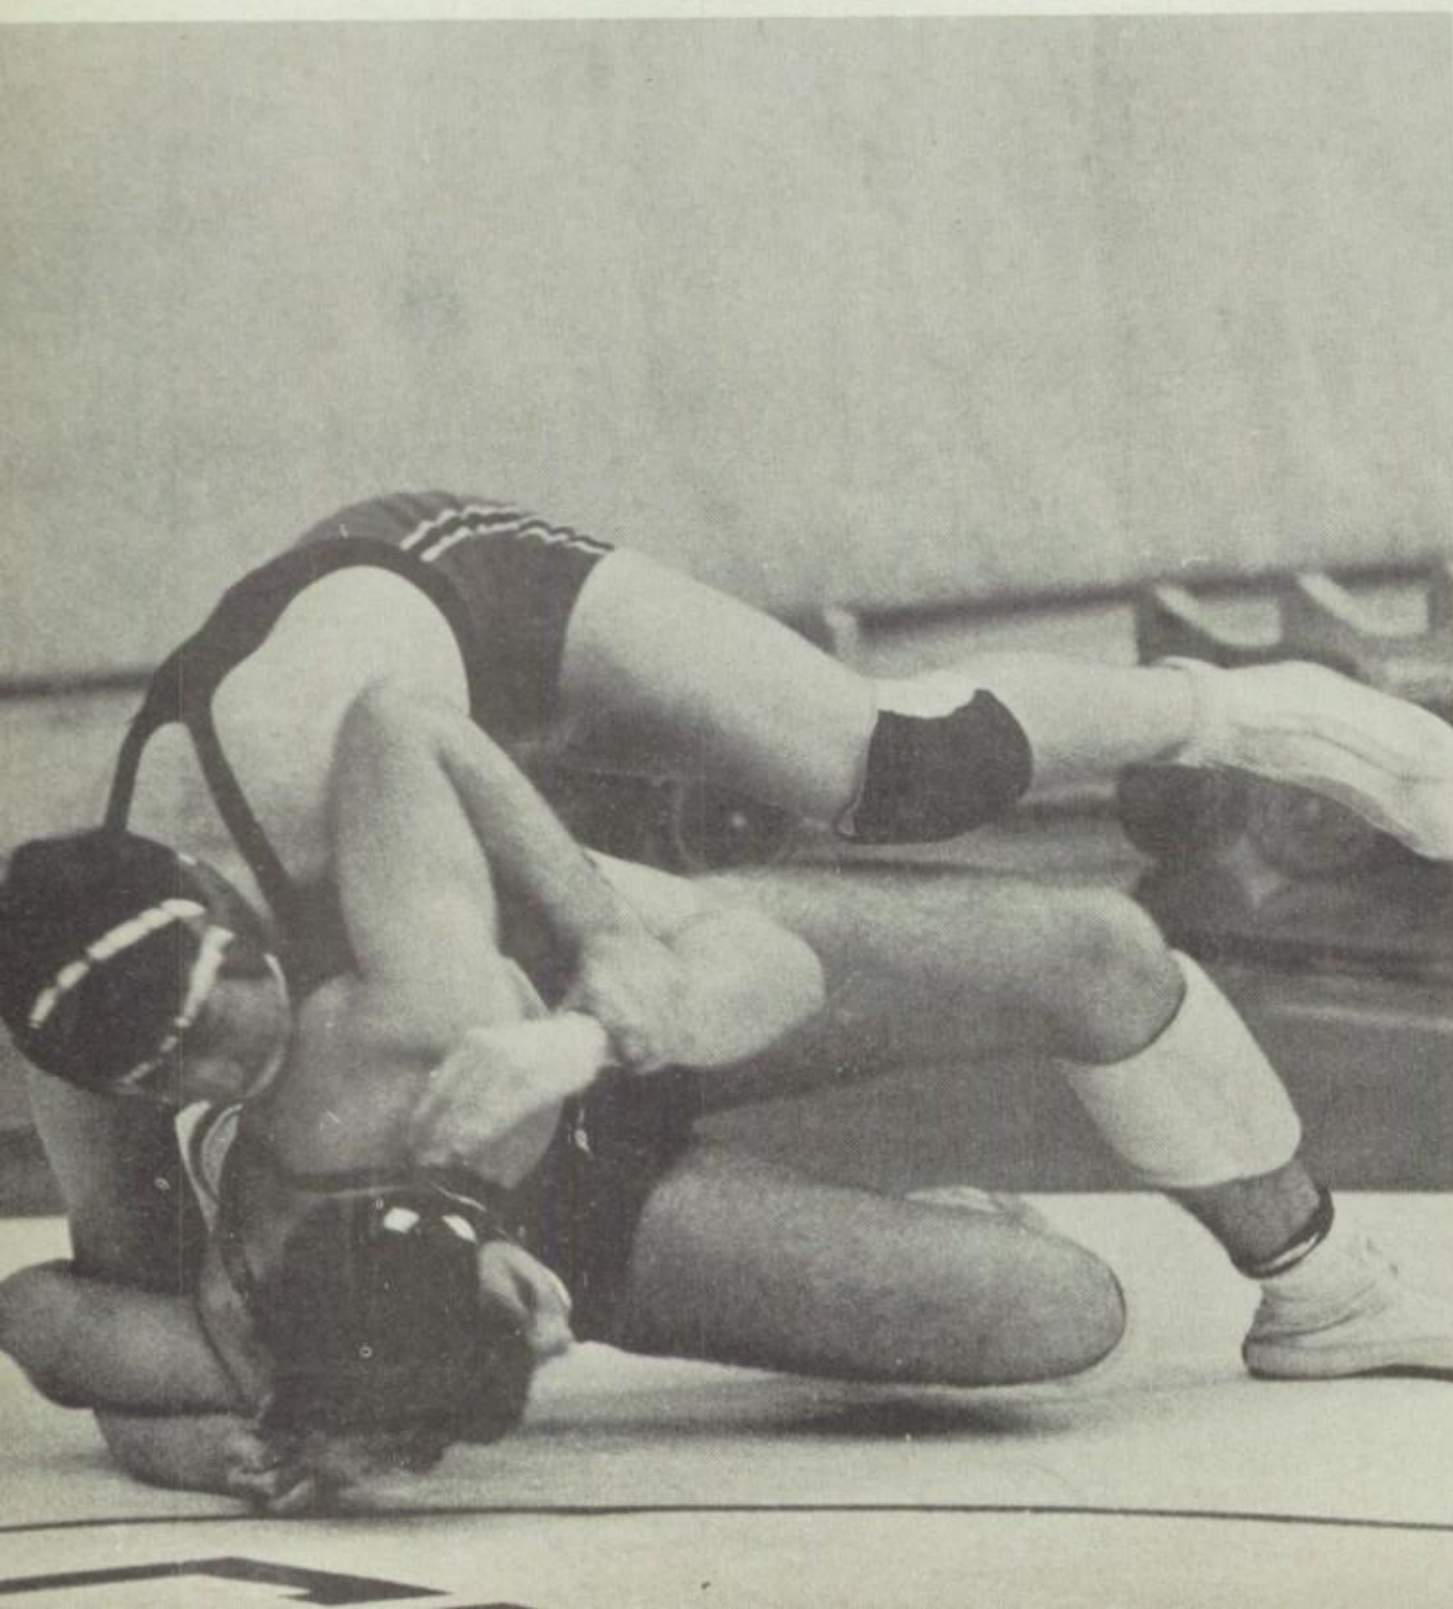

Placing first in the Clackamas Invitational and the Lake Oswego Invitational highlighted a highly competitive year. First varsity muscled a 6-4-0 record and placed sixth in Metro dual meets and fourth at the District Tournament.

During Christmas vacation the Cavs co-hosted with Milwaukie a visiting South African wrestling team.

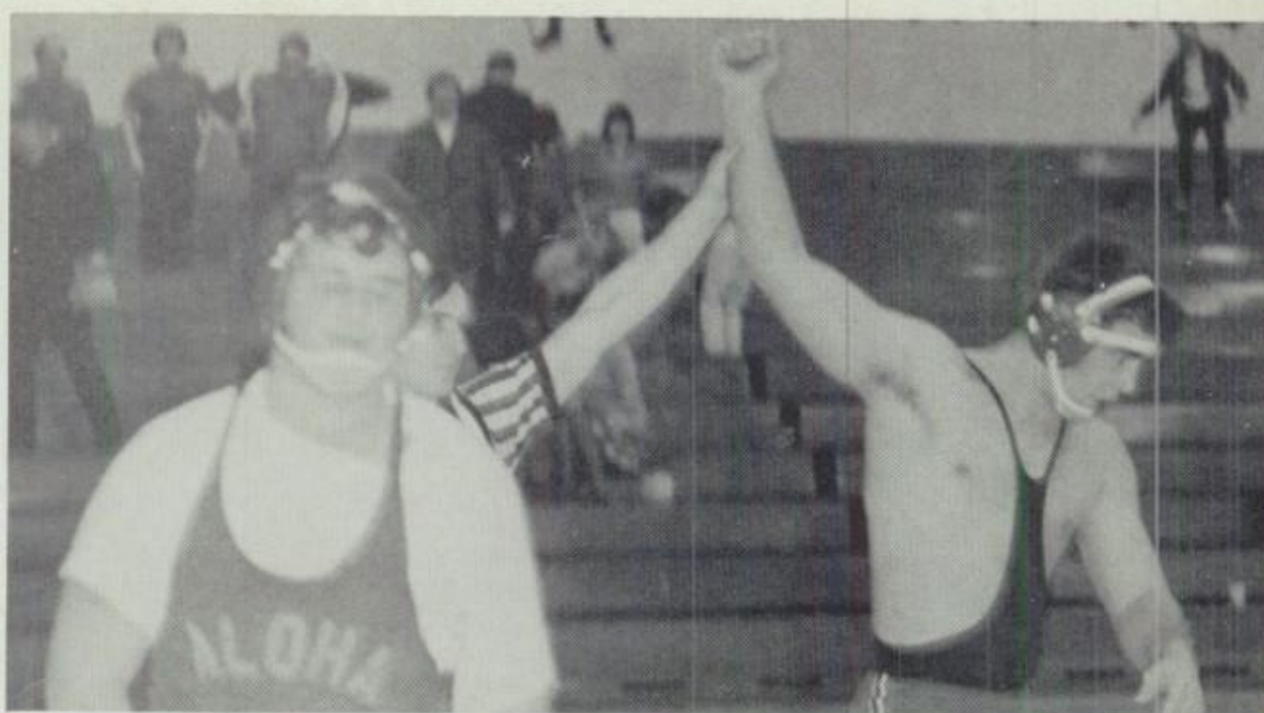

Outstanding individuals included John DeJager (157), Metro first team all-star selection and only member to reach state competition; Lloyd Shipman (191), Metro first team all-star selection; and Leo Clark (Hwt.), Metro second team all-star selection.

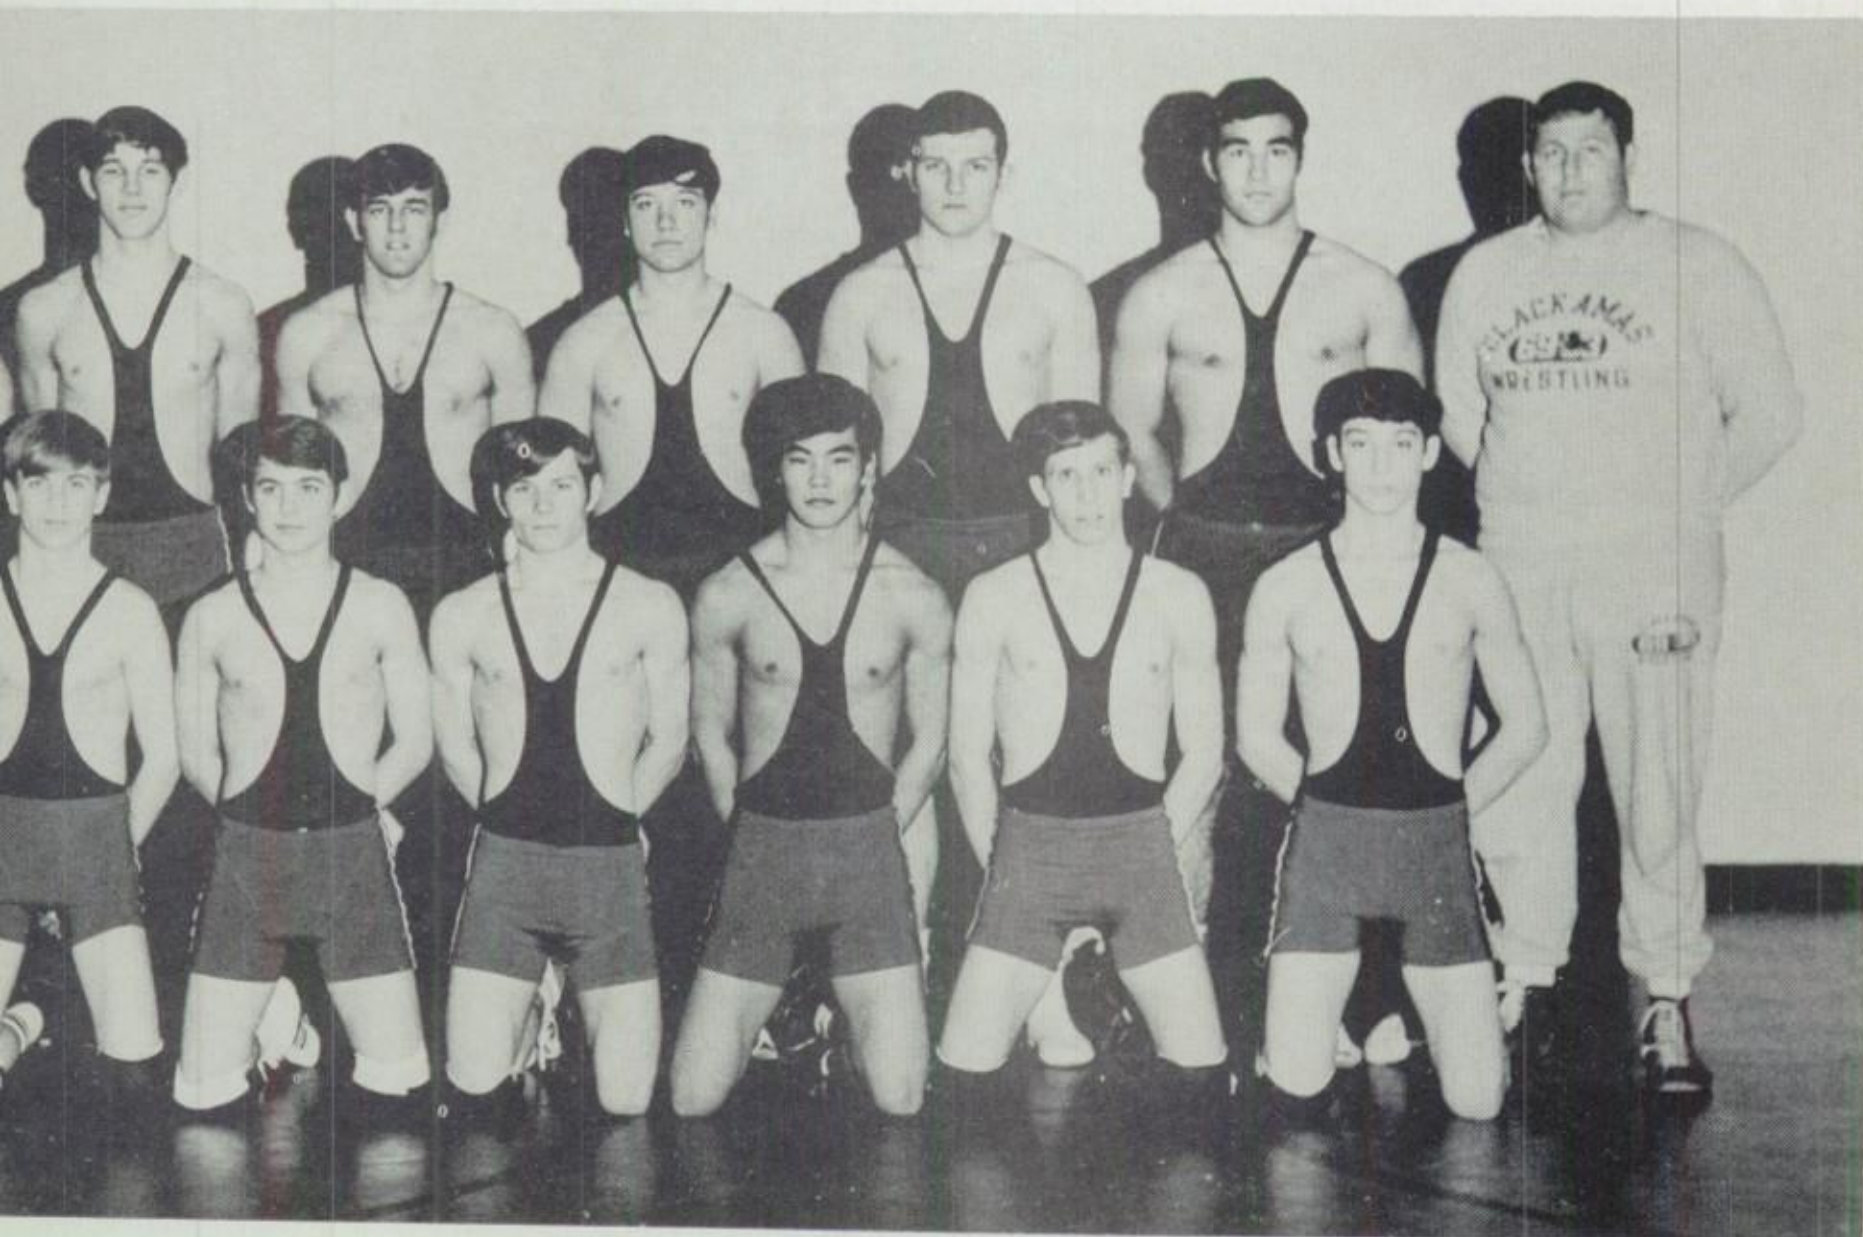

The match: an undeniable test of strength.

Two freshmen hurdlers get in some important practice prior to a big meet the next day. At right, Coach Gardner reviews a runner's time.

Intramurals now-- an official team next year with the help of Coach Goin (above right). Outstanding member Jan Wright qualified for state competition in the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard relay at the district meet.

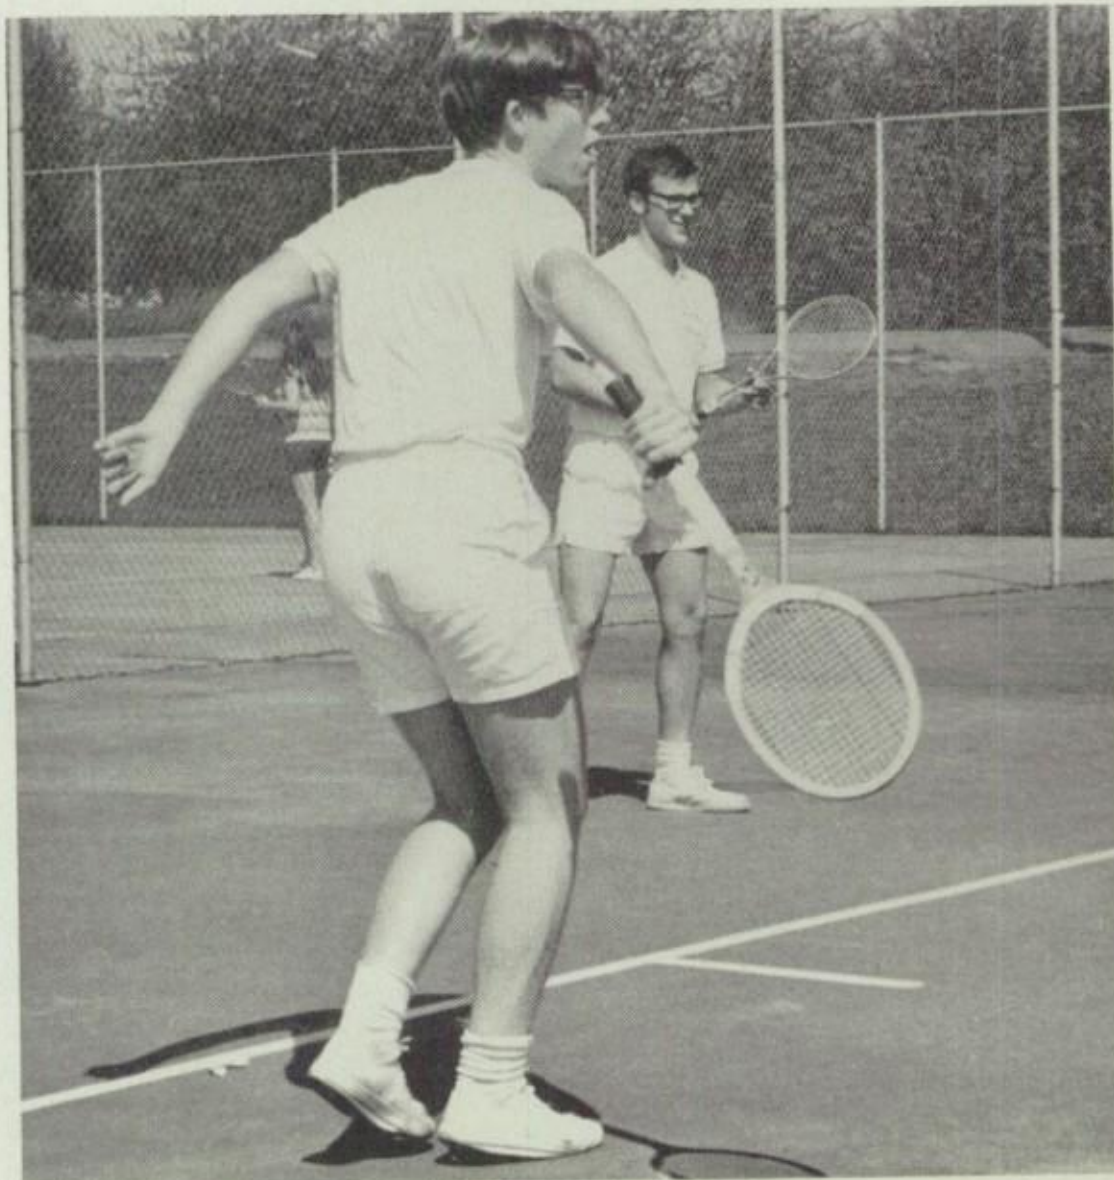

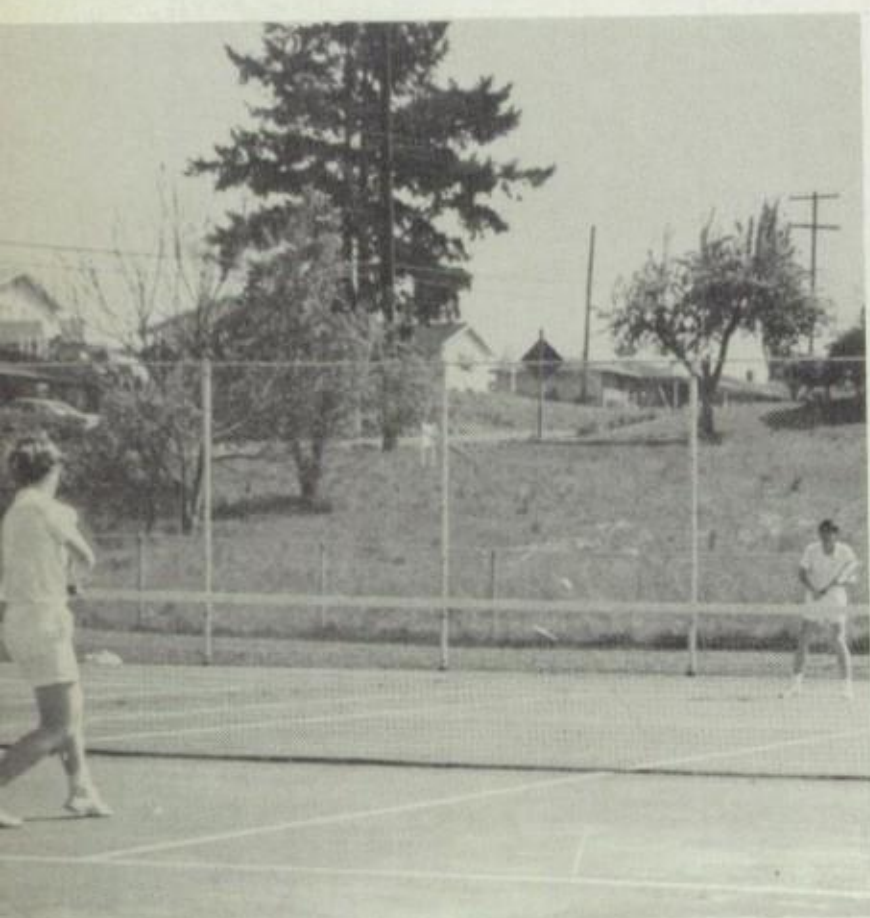

Girls' intramurals gain track status for future years

Doubles set record

Rain, hail, and chilling winds curtailed a usually fair weather sport. Despite cancellations and schedule revisions, outstanding individual accomplishments took place. Setting a league record of 11 wins, 0 losses, first doubles team of Dan Zorn and John McPherson (below) are the team's greatest chance for representation in state competition at Corvallis.

Bill McKay, singles, and Mike Weldon, doubles, warm up.

Jim Lundy, first singles player, and Coach Crimmins wait for the arrival of an opposing team. Jim's league record of 8 wins, 3 losses, gave him a third place ranking for the second consecutive year of Metro League competition.

Tom Griggs (below) rotated on the second doubles team with Mark Larson and Bill McKay. At left is singles opponent John Nichols. John managed three league victories this year in his first time as a varsity competitor.

Coach Keaveny, Vickie Erceg, Janet Burke, Susan Willis, and Sandy Ledgerwood. Sandy and Susan are the only seniors, so hopes for next year are high.

overcome a discouraging season

Woolsey, Randy Snyder, Coach Snider, Bob Little, John Dorst, Bill Perdue, Coach Hartman.

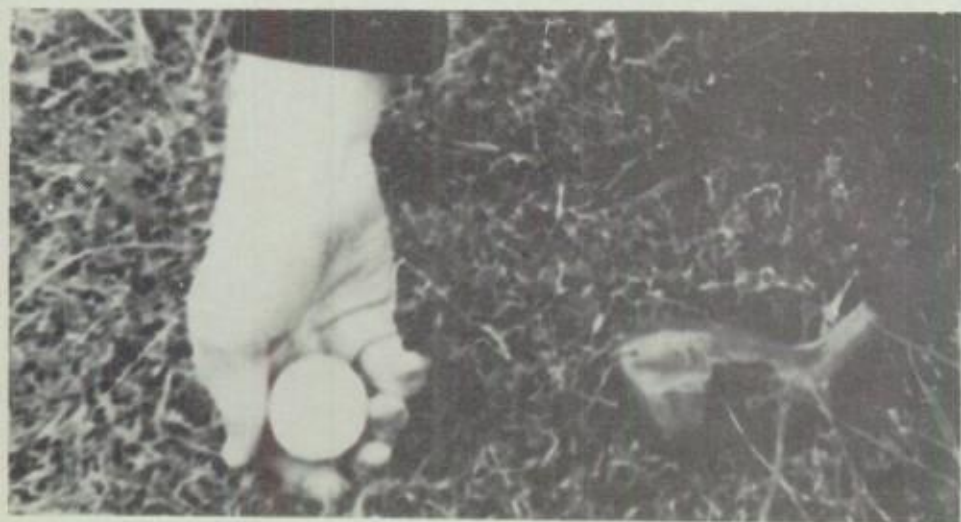

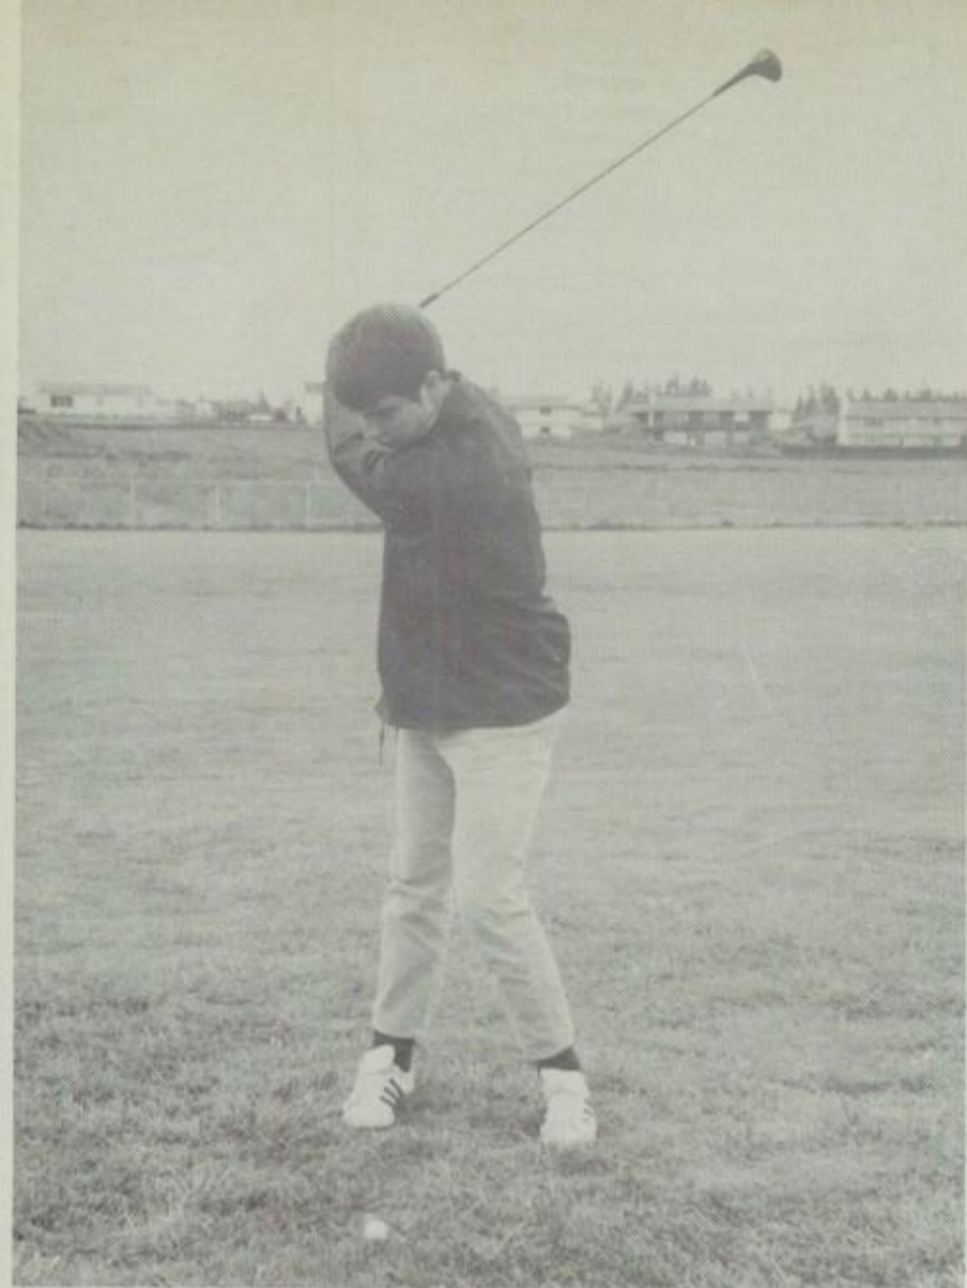

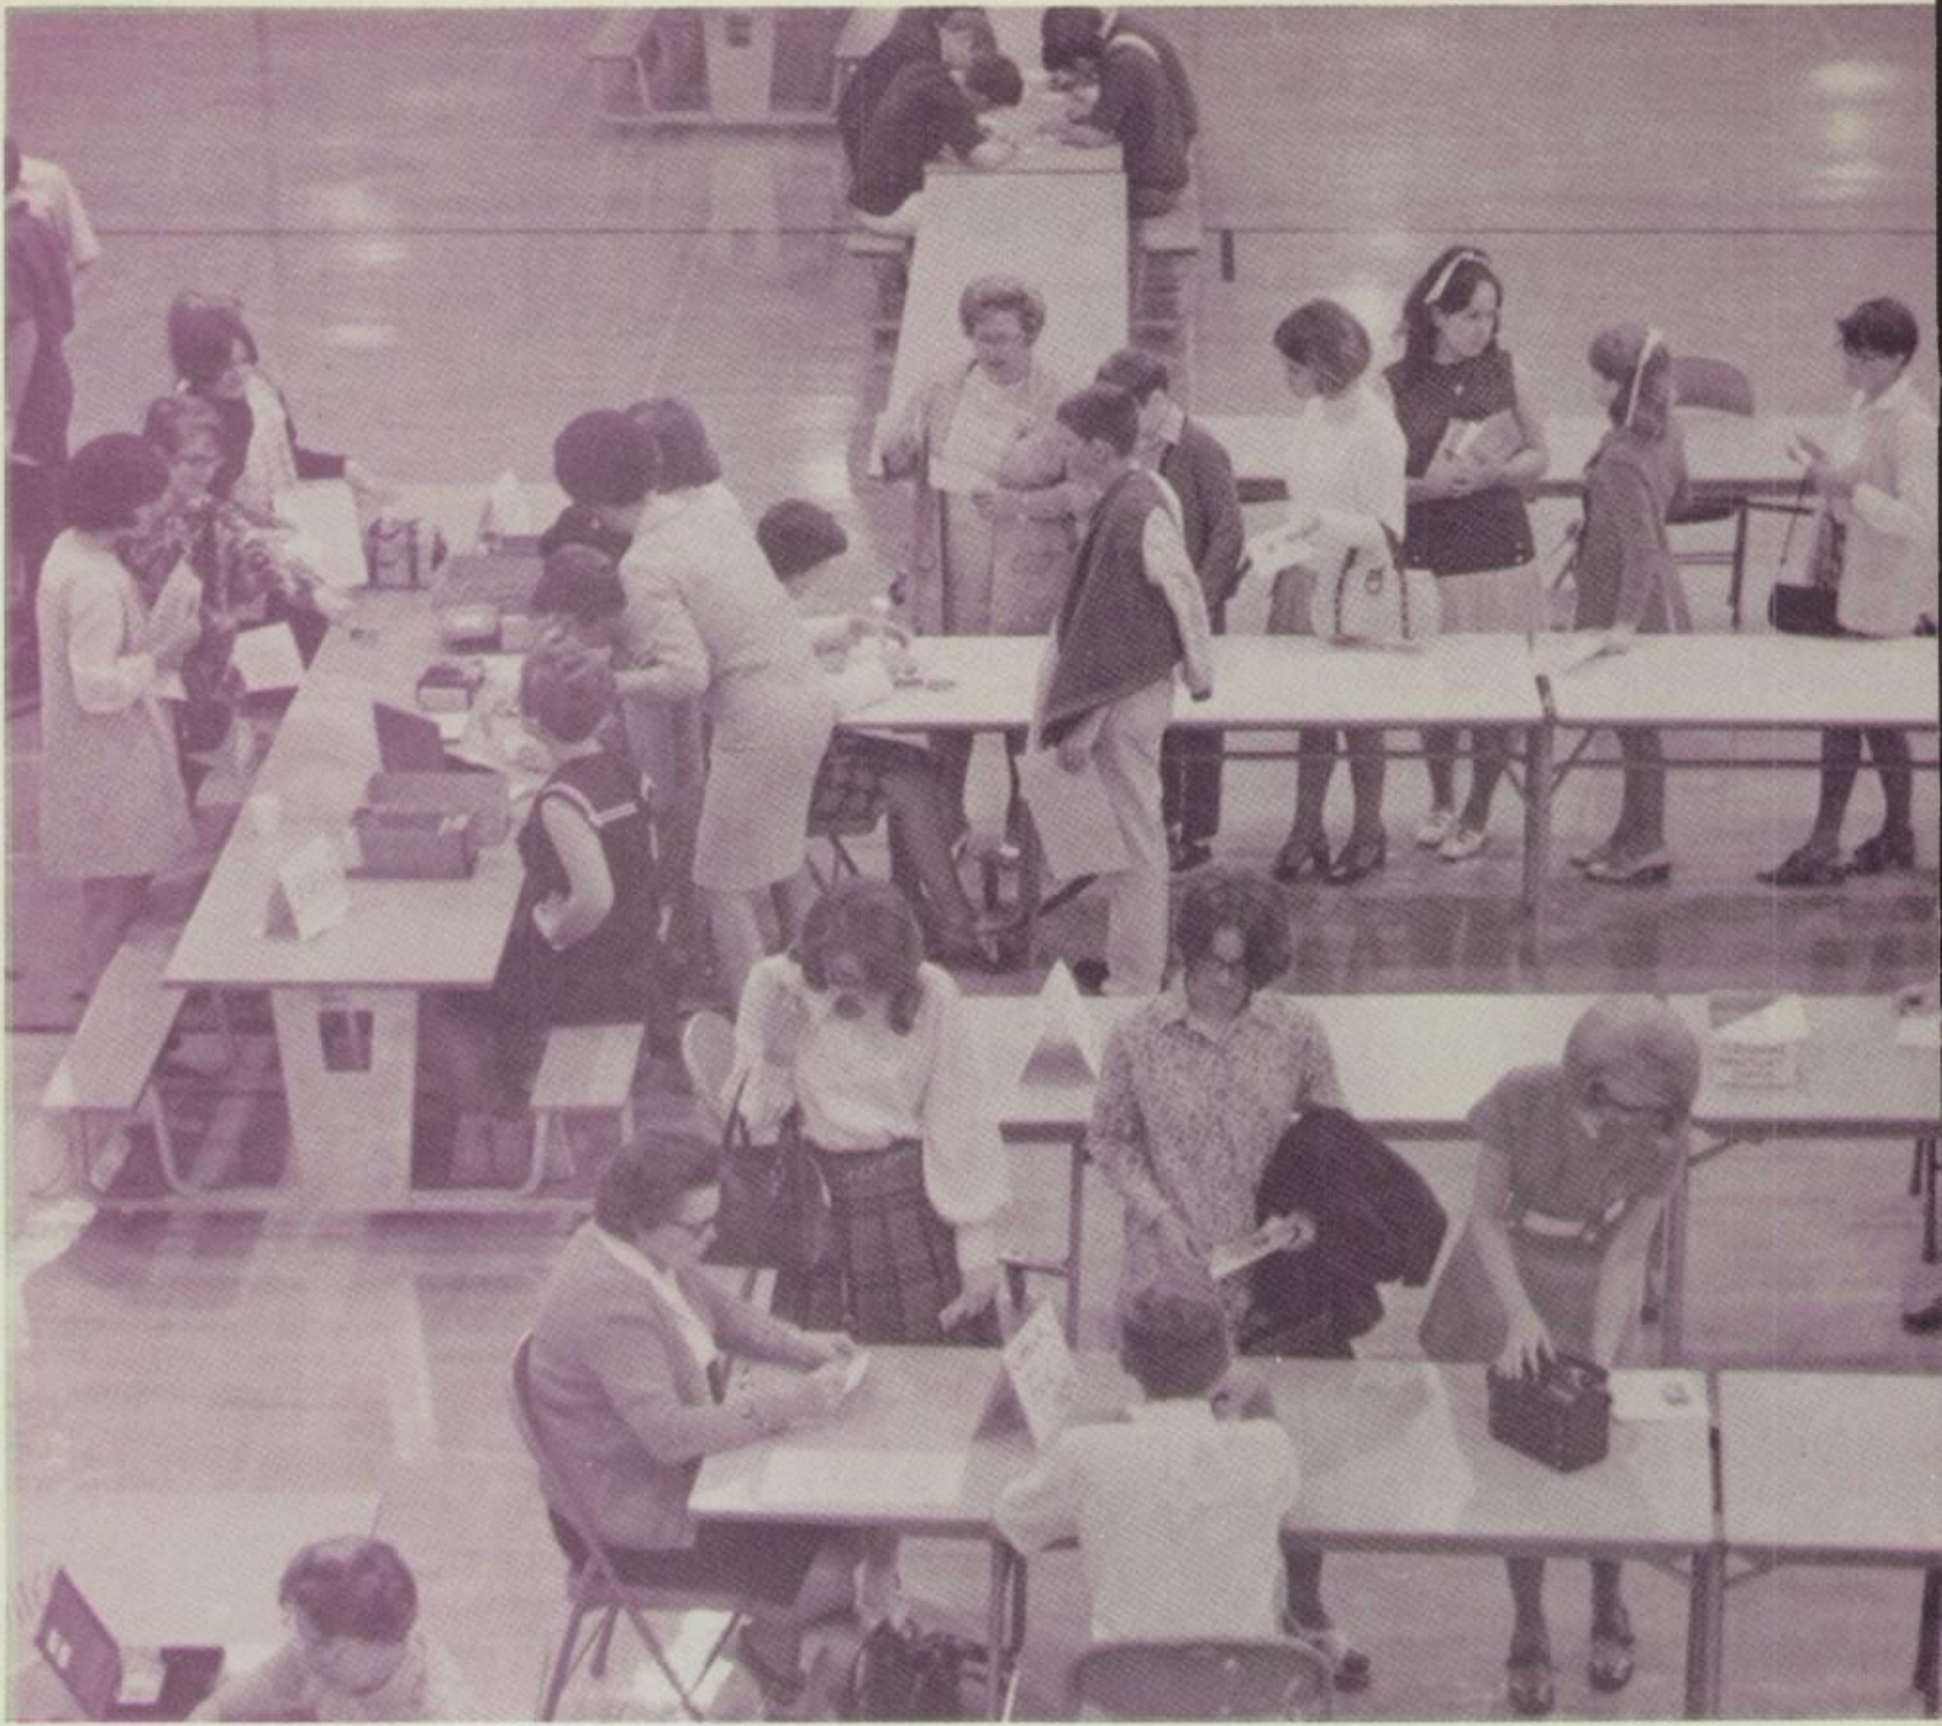

Randy Snyder and Chief Snider check over scores, while Spike Hartman (right) prepares for a two wood shot.

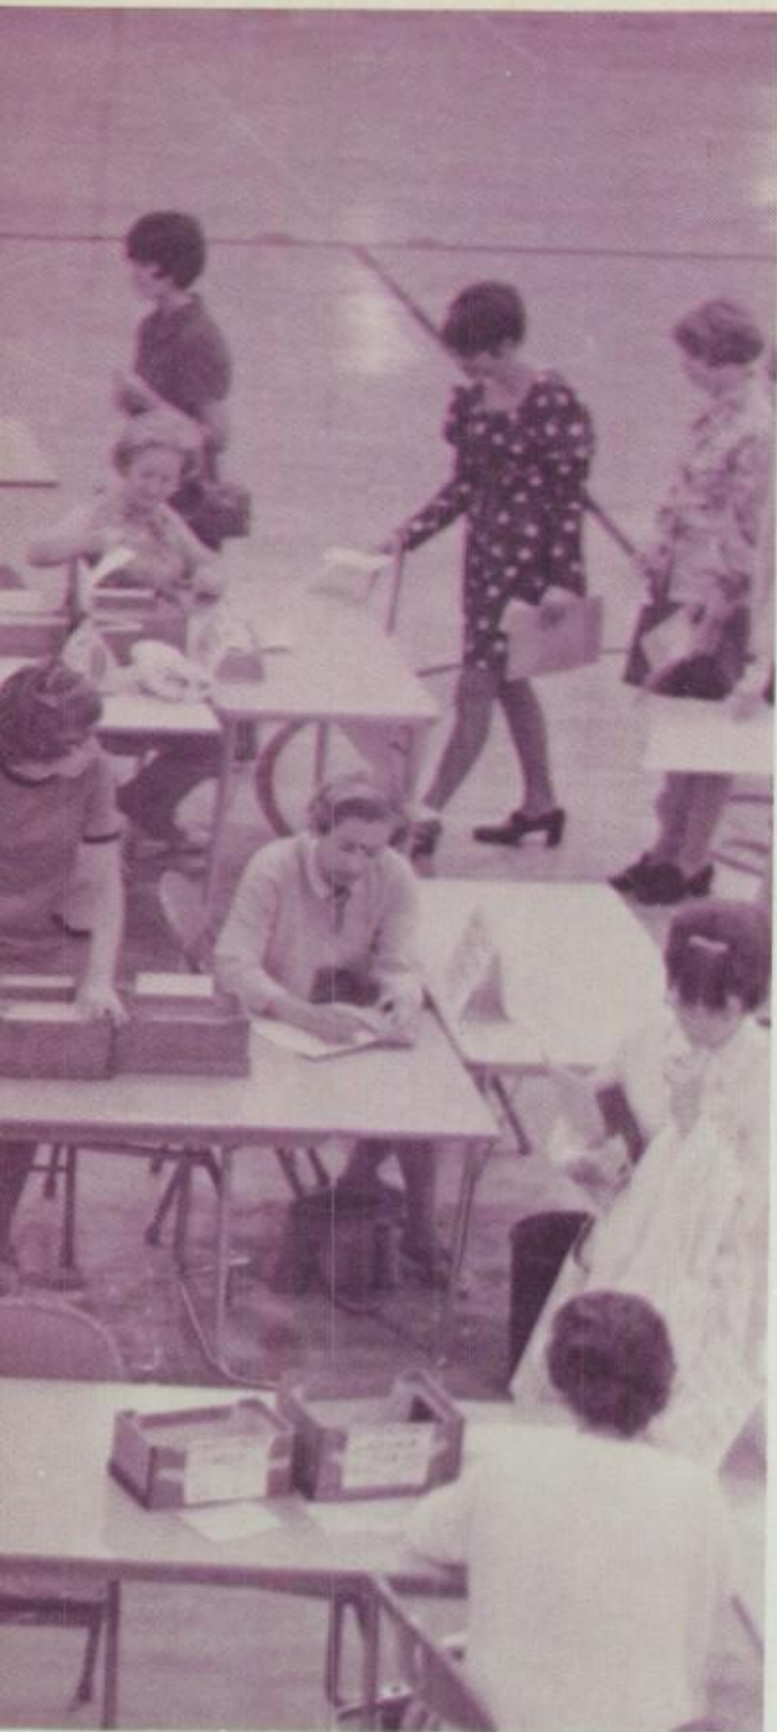

Late surge follows slow start

Although the varsity golf team had a bad start with an 0-6 record, after the first six games they came on stronger the second half of the season and finished with seven wins and nine losses.

CAMPUS LIFE

Faculty, students work together to build responsible citizens

In memorium

God hath not promised—
 Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
 All our lives through;
God hath not promised
 Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow,
 Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
 Strength for the day,
Rest for the labor,
 Light for the way.
Grace for the trials,
 Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy,
 Undying love.

Charles H. Hogue

January 7, 1924 - January 17, 1970

Mr. Charles H. Hogue, boys dean for the past five years, drowned in a scuba diving accident in Hood's Canal, Washington, on January 17, 1970.

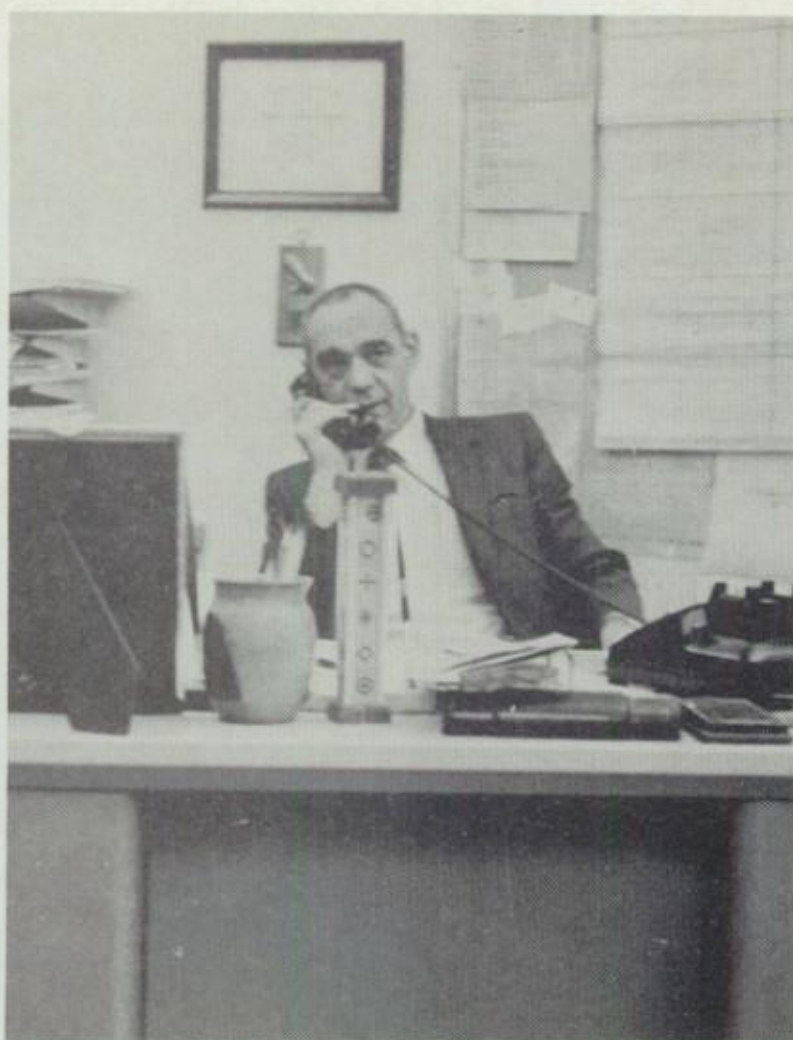

Mr. Hogue began his employment in the district in 1951. While at Clackamas he served as a mathematics instructor, freshman football coach, sophomore class advisor, and counselor.

An educational fund at Oak Hills Presbyterian Church and a scholarship fund are established in his memory.

Mr. Millen, principal

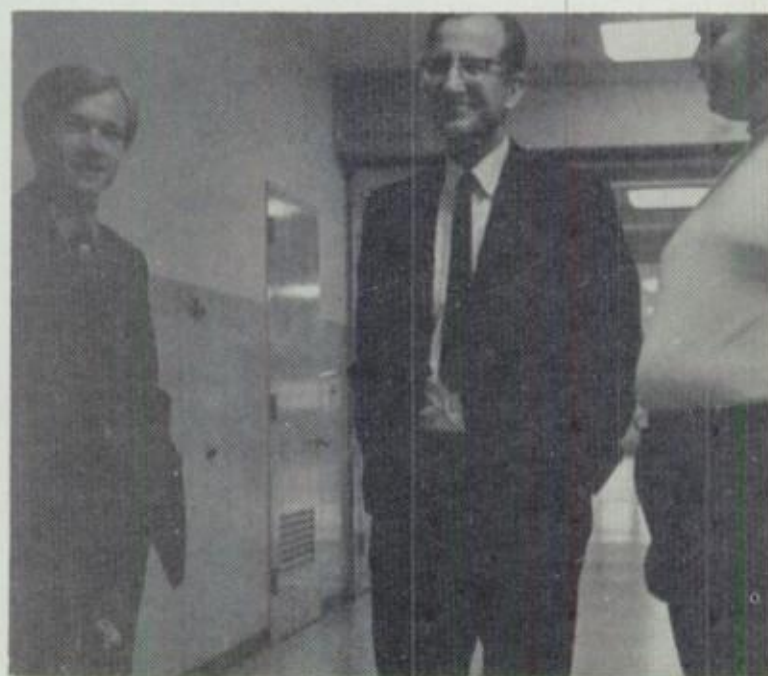

Mr. Newton, assistant principal

Mr. Paschild, dean of boys

Administration strives for unity at C.H.S.

Changes in dress code restrictions, the establishment of a student forum, discussions over open campus possibilities, and admittance of students to faculty group meetings are a few of the areas where a cooperative spirit between students, faculty and administration became a reality.

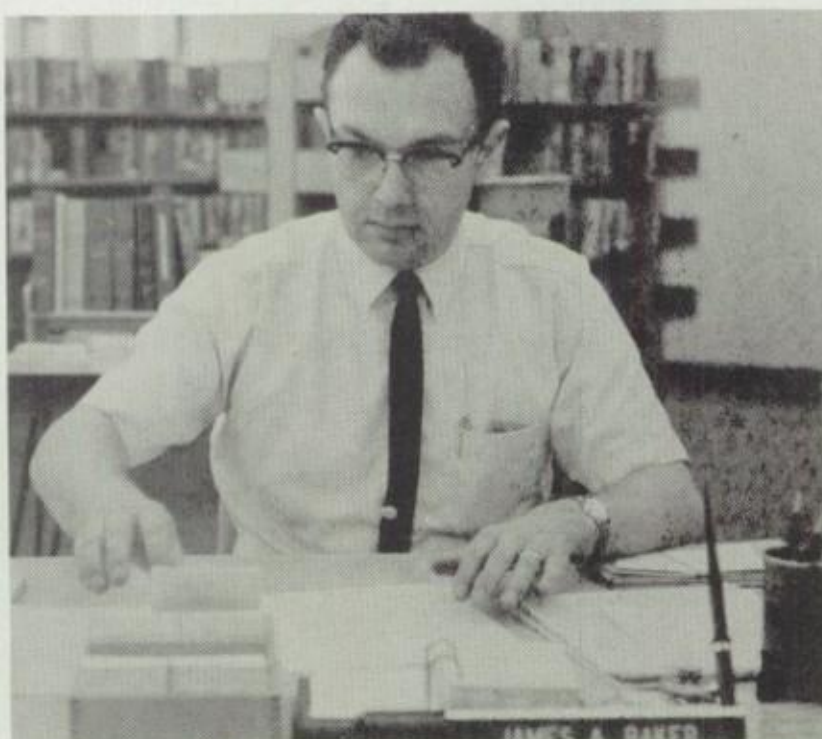

Mrs. Folden, dean of girls

Secretaries, counselors, nurse keep students' records

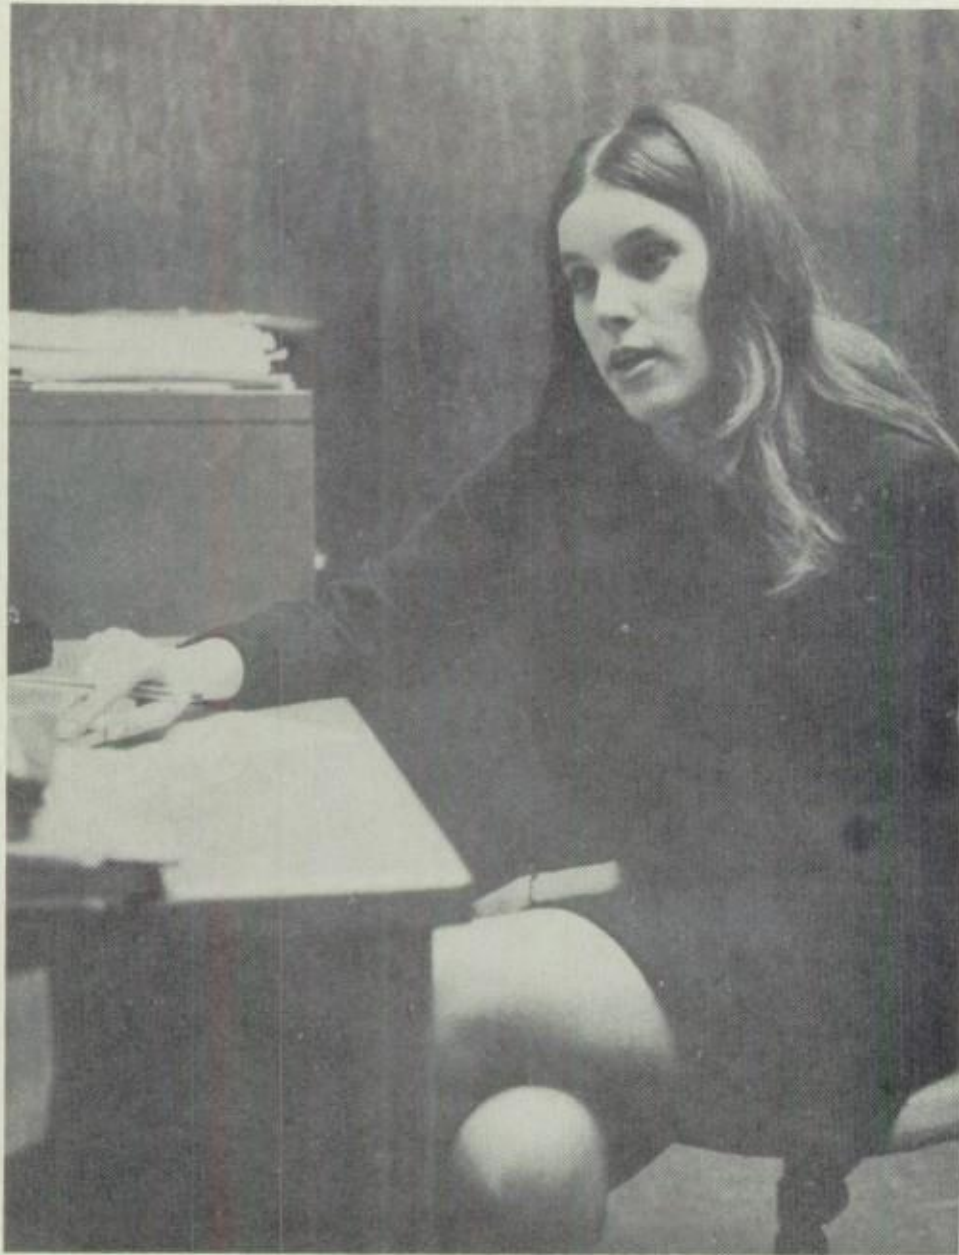

Vital services to students, teachers, and administrators are provided by main office secretary, Mrs. Haberlach, above; school nurse, Mrs. Crain, upper left; and deans' secretary, Mrs. Badeau.

Being in charge of library facilities and audio-visual aides keeps Mr. Baker busy. He's never too busy, however, to help a student find materials for research papers, reports, or entertainment. At left, attendance secretary Mrs. Fagan calls a student's home to see that his absence is legal.

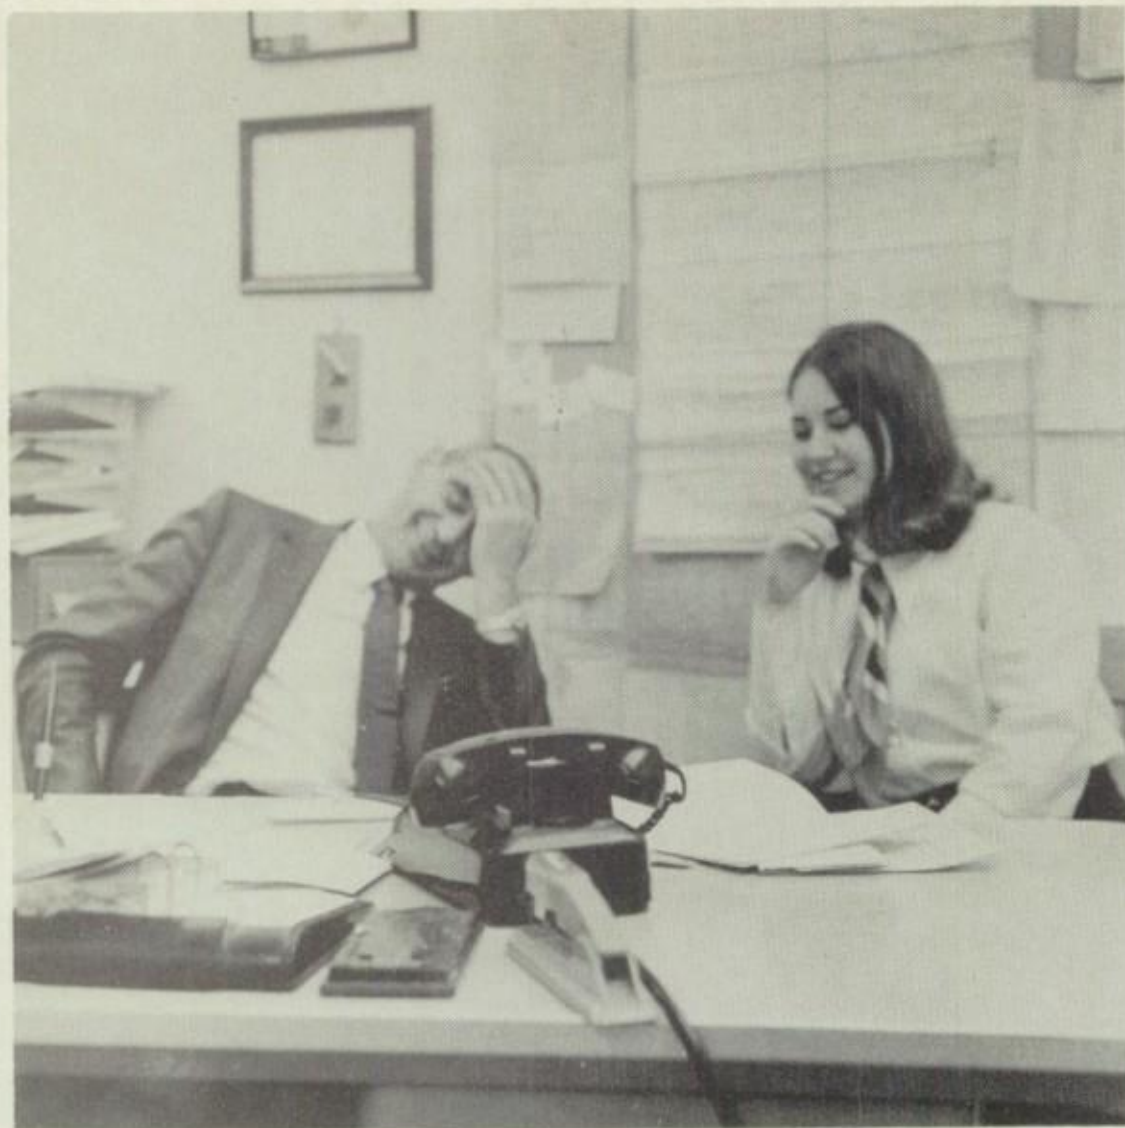

Counselors work closely with students to help with present, future

Skills Center facilities allow students to develop and express talent in graphic arts, automotive engineering, wood and metal crafts

ORGANIZATIONS

Selecting pictures for the activities section are advisor Mr. Wells and editor-in-chief Debbie Foreman.

Randi McKnight edited the honors section.

Sports editor Dennis Murphy and Fine Arts editor Sue Thompson wait for headlines.

Sue Cline and Chris Sexton had charge of the senior section.

Final touches to the fine arts section are made by editor Carol Lake.

Randy Snyder and Dan Isbell, teammates on the basketball court, handle most of the sports coverage. Mr. Wells, advisor, and editor-in-chief Gwen Richards, discuss an editorial campaign (below).

Friendship and service denote the purpose of Girls' League. At the end of every month one senior girl, because of exceptional services, is honored with the Girl of the Month title. Other service projects include the Peanut Sale, Candy Cane Sale, Christmas Formal, and the Valegram Sale. All CHS girls are members.

Girls', Boys' Leagues sponsor 'Soul'assembly

Mr. Paschild assumed responsibility of Boys' Dean and Boys' League advisor when Mr. Hogue met a tragic death in a scuba diving accident at Hoods Canal, in Washington.

Advisor Mrs. Crimins devotes time and energy.

Cavalettes create new image

Cavalettes are the nucleus of school spirit and pride. Rally girls are selected from within the membership.

Officers for this year's Cavalettes: Tina Olson, president; Joan VanBishler, vice president; Merrie Cole, second vice president; and Linda Beck, secretary-treasurer.

Group applies artistic talents

Art Council's purpose is to expose students with artistic interests to activities which will enrich their talents and experiences. Visits to art exhibits and museums enable members to see first hand the works of prominent artists. The club is open to anyone interested who seeks to broaden art appreciation.

DeAkka shows its strength throughout athletic season

De Akka's membership consists of athletes who have earned varsity letters. United because of common interest, the club's purpose is to promote athletics and to build school pride.

This year the organization raised money for a Coke machine to be placed in the boy's locker room. Proceeds from the dispenser are designated for several projects which are beneficial to the sport's department. Though nothing has been confirmed, prospects being considered include a trophy case, a whirlpool, and a baseball dugout.

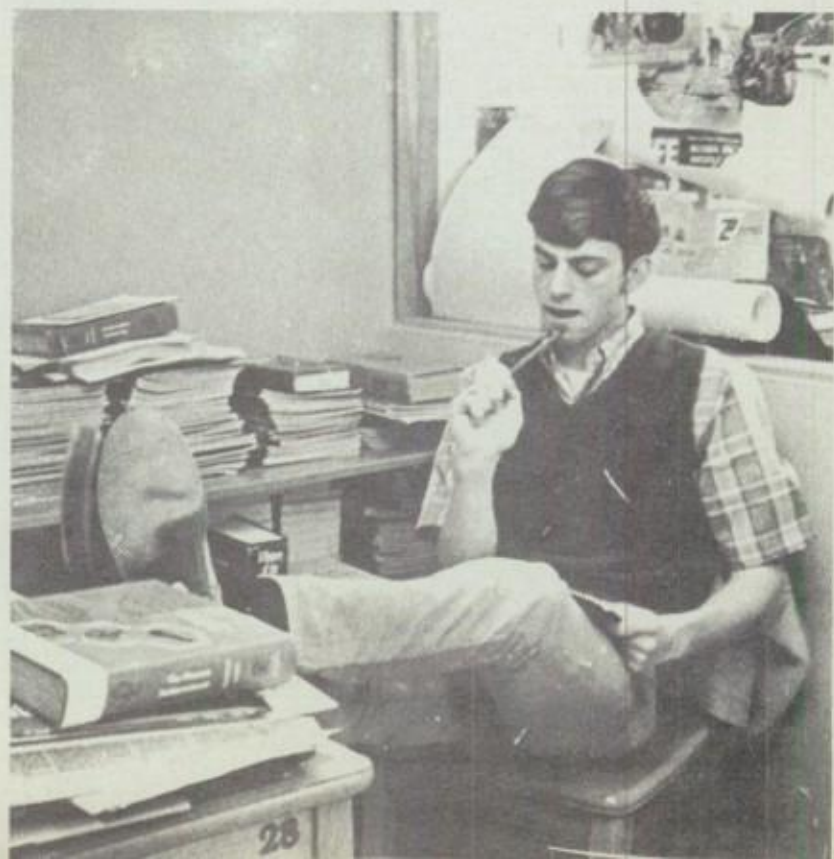

Leo Clark, Rick Van Dorn, Ross Wescott, Charlie Rose, Dennis Murphy enjoy the Coke machine.

NHS: intellectual nucleus

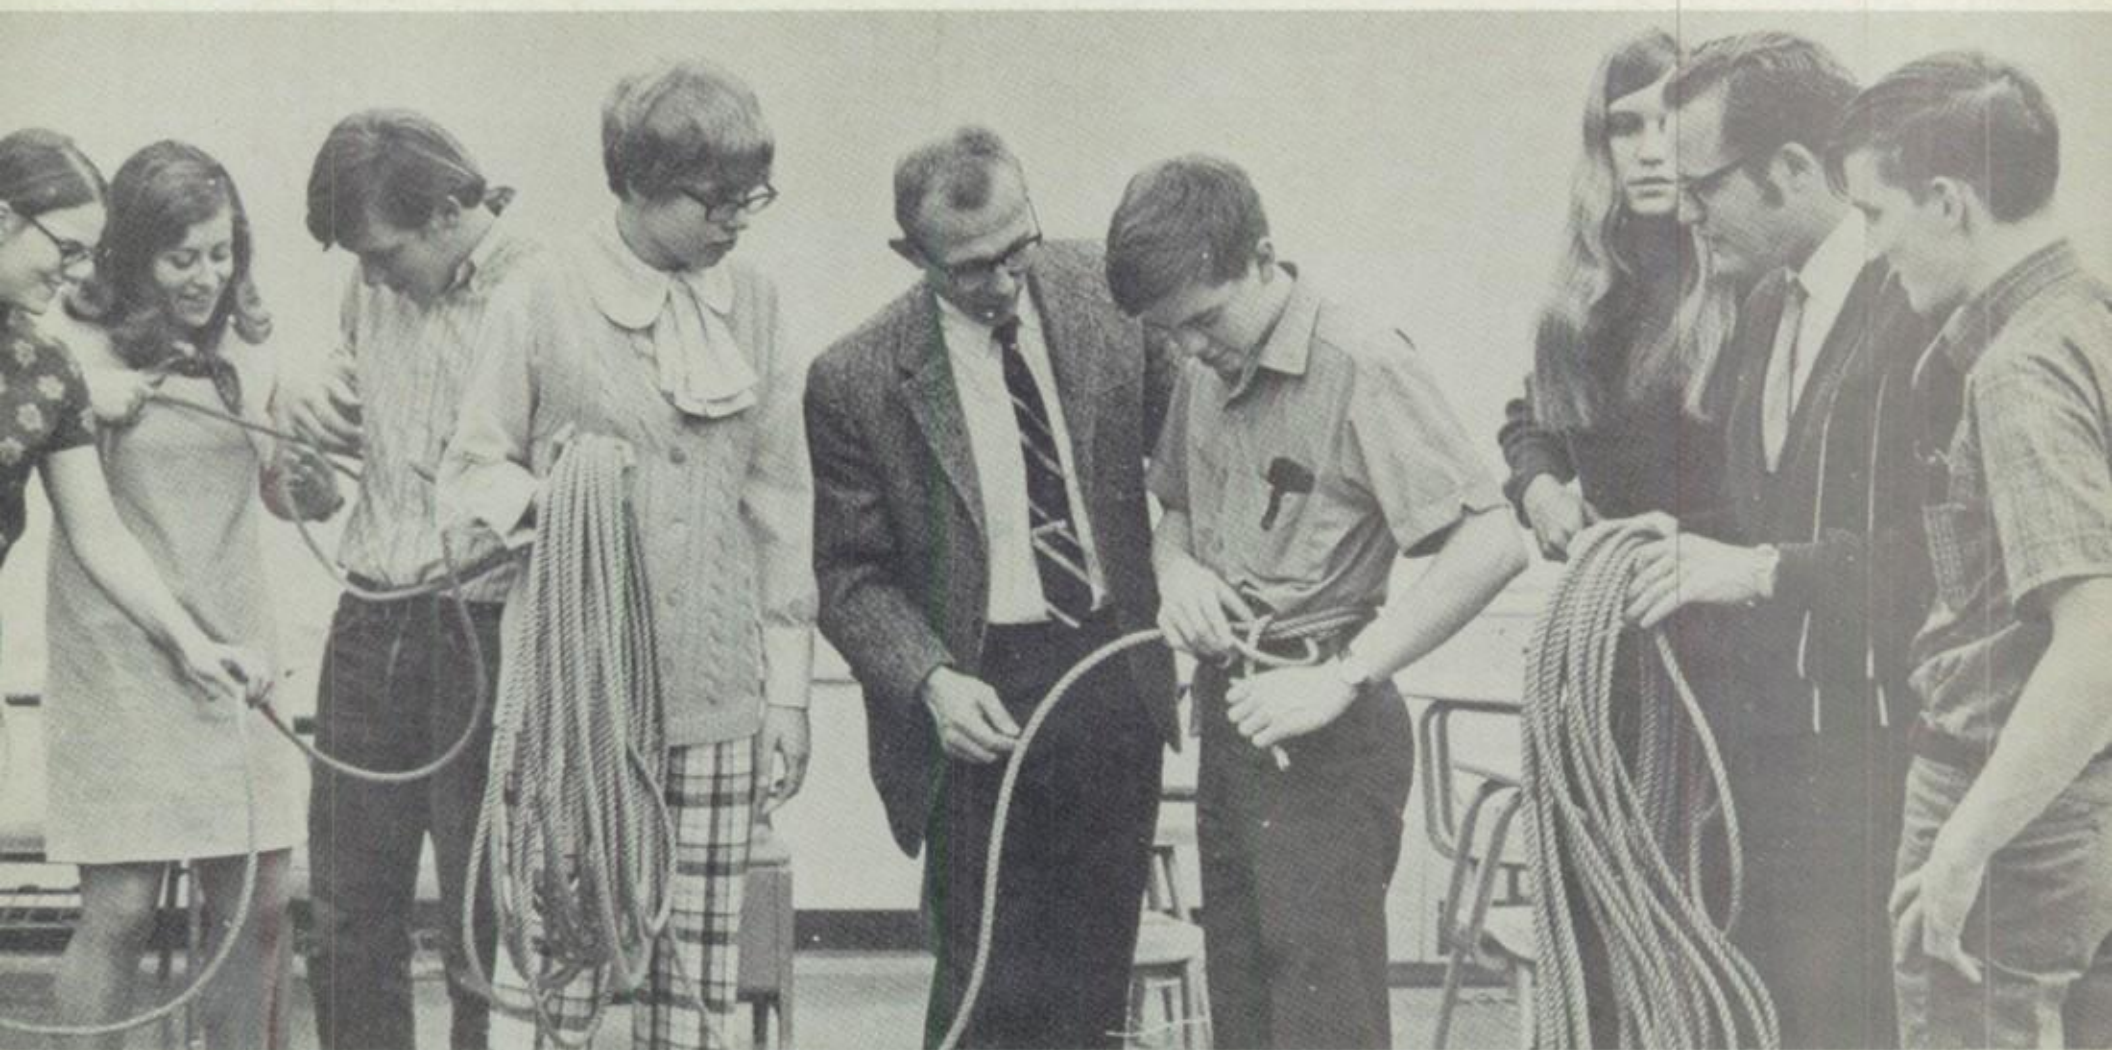

Clackamas High School's Chapter of National Honor Society tallies 56 juniors and seniors. Qualifications include a grade point average of at least 3.2. Responsibilities include the honor roll, the honor board, honor study program, and the tutoring program designed to assist fellow students.

Ski Club shows beauty and safety in the art of skiing

The purpose of Ski Club is to promote good, safe, fun skiing. All members meet at the school in order to leave by 7:15 a. m. The club engages in eight consecutive Sundays.

Alpine club sets high goals, meets nature's challenge

Holding two classes a month on such topics as knot tying, climbing techniques, and mountain survival, the club prepares for various climbs on local peaks and mountains. In the spring when daylight and weather permit, the group ascends Mt. Hood.

Group responsibility and individual accomplishment account for the members' desire to conquer formidable heights and challenge nature's awe.

Four clubs expand occupational interest

Future Homemakers

Future Homemakers enables girls who have an interest and appreciation for homemaking activities to meet and apply their learned skills. By sewing their own clothes and cooking exotic foods, the girls gain money-saving skills as well as develop lifetime hobbies.

Para Medical Careers

Para Medical Careers aims to bring together all students interested in pursuing medical careers ranging from students desiring to become doctors, dental assistants, lab technicians, and nurses.

Many of the members volunteer their services to local hospitals as nurse's aids. The club also sponsors Red Cross membership drives.

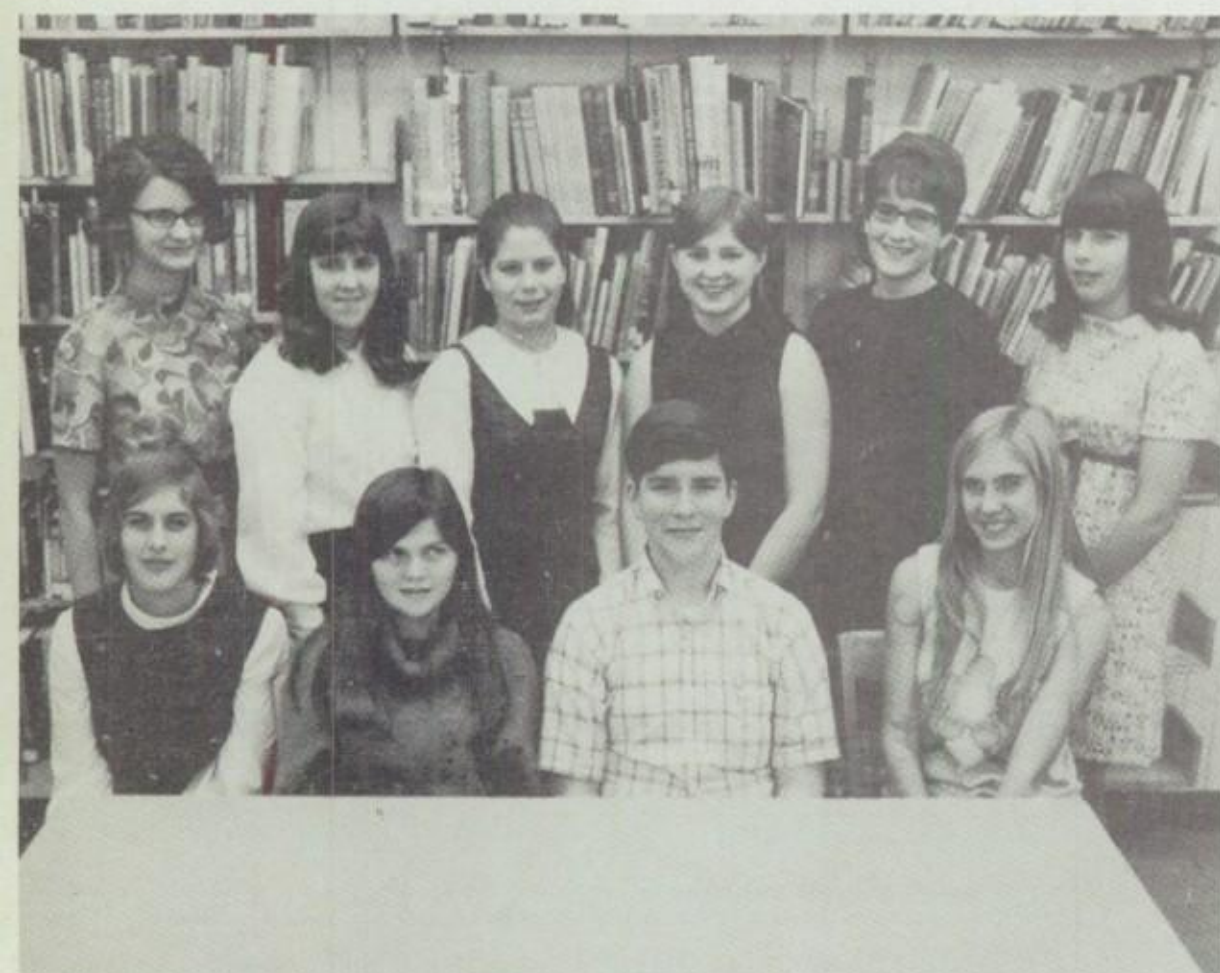

Future Farmers

Future Farmers is an integral part of vocational agriculture. In this program members are able to develop agricultural leadership and to form a foundation for their future careers in a number of areas.

Through FFA sponsored contests, members are judged on skills of parliamentary procedure, public speaking, judging livestock, to name a few. Everyone who has taken a course in vocational agriculture is eligible for FFA membership.

Future Teachers

The purpose of Future Teachers' is to help members learn about the teaching profession. Activities include parties, potlucks, speakers, and visitations to local colleges.

FTA is open to anyone anytime during the school year.
